NEGRO CRITICIZES AGNEW'S REMARKS

INDIANA SENATOR VISITS GOVERNORS . . .

Nebraska, Wisconsin Must Primaries—Bayh

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

South Sioux City —Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana Tuesday said both Nebraska and Wisconsin will be "must primaries" for him if he seeks and expects to win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Bayh brought his undeclared presidential primary campaign to the Midwestern Governors Conference late Tuesday, jetting from Louisville to Sioux City in order to attend the governors' state dinner.

At a pre-dinner news conference, Bayh said midwestern primary elections would be vital to him if he hopes to capture his party's nomination.

'Very Important'

"Wisconsin and Nebraska would be two very important primaries," he said. "I think both would be must primaries for me. I would have to run respectfully well in them."

Bayh pointedly mentioned his past associations with Gov. J. James Exon and the fact that Bill Riggs left the governor's staff to join him as a campaign aide.

Several months ago, he told newsmen, he helped Exon on an unidentified 'road problem."

"I think I have a number of friends in Nebraska," he noted

Escorts Mrs. Biegert

Bayh escorted Democratic National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert of Shickley to the governors' state dinner at the Sioux City Auditorium Tuesday night.

Bayh said he came to Sioux City to visit informally with midwestern governors about federal-state relationships, but he admitted that he would also privately discuss his poitical plans with a number of them.

"I have to find out whether mine would be a credible candidacy," he noted, aud one way to find out is "by talking to some of the men here."

Follows McGovern

Bayh's visit followed by two days a three-day campaign swing through Nebraska by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

Missing — but careful not to be forgotten —was another likely primary contender, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine.

Muskie telephoned Exon earlier in the day to extend his courtesies.

No Household Word

Bayh noted that his own name is "hardly a household word." But name recognition "can be accomplished in a relatively short period of time" through judicious use of the communications media, he said.

The Hoosier is now in the process of "taking the pulse" in primary states "to see what kind of response we get," he said.

If he does go, Bayh said, he must do well in the primaries to stay alive.

Financial Problem

One problem that bothers him is whether his supporters can "put together sufficient resources" to be successful, Bayh said. "I'm not yet convinced of that," he pointed out.

But, as for now, he said, his campaign budget is solvent.

Muskie Is "Leading at this time," Bayh said.

But most Democrats are waiting and "searching," he said. "There have been amazingly few commitments made to anybody.

"They are waiting to see what the candidates can do out on the track."

Grant Says He Could Be Fired

. . . FROM FEDERAL JOB

San Francico (AP) — A young Negro Republican in the Nixon administration said Tuesday that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of black leadership in the United States is "contrary to the American spirit." He said he was aware his words could cost him his job.

Robert Lee Grant, 32, special assistant to Floyd Hyde, assistant secretary of housing and urban development, said in an interview that Agnew's criticism of black leadership in Madrid on Saturday "did not serve a useful or constructive purpose and was negative and contrary to the American spirit."

Agnew's comments, Grant said, "only serve to frustrate moderate and progressive black leaders who, in spite of our administration's extremely bad image in black communities, have been working within the system trying to root out social injustice."

"I just think it was wrong for the vice president to say what he said but they (the administration) will continue to do these things unless people challenge them and if that's going to cost me my job, I'll pay the price "

Already In Hot Water

Grant said he was already in hot water within the administration for a June 25 speech critical of its policies toward minorities. He said Agnew "does not know a lot about black leaders and what they're trying to accomplish today. He appeals to the bigotry in people."

After his June speech in Hemstead, N.Y., he said he was called to the White House by Herbert Klein, President Nixon's communications director, and told his comments were negative and were not appreciated.

Grant was in San Francisco on vacation. After the interview, he appeared on a television news program where he repeated his criticism of Agnew.

As for Grant's charges, Klein said, "It's one of a series of critical comments he has made in the last few weeks . . . The fact that he made a series of challenging comments, he apparently hopes some action is taken."

Record Defended

Klein defended the administration's record toward minorities. He cited its handling of school desegregation and its emphasis on manpower training and welfare reform. Klein called the record an excellent one.

Grant, an urban economist educated at the University of Stockholm and Sorbonne, was executive director of the European Republican Committee during the 1968 presidential campaign.

He said he believed he was entitled to speak out because 'I worked like hell for these cats to put him in office."

Unfavorable Comparison

Agnew drew an unfavorable comparison between U.S. black leaders and black leaders in Africa.

"This is in distinct contrast — the quality of this leadership — to many of those in the United States who have arrogated unto themselves the position of black leaders, those who spend their time in querulous complaint and constant recriminations against the rest of society," the vice president said after visiting Ethiopia, Kenya and the Congo.

"The black leadership in the United States, not all of it, but most of it, could learn much by observing the work that has been done in these countries . . ."

Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D-Md., a member of the black congressional caucus, said in a House speech that Agnew spoke "either out of obtuseness or racialism," and had proved himself unworthy of being vice president.

Mitchell said Agnew's attack on black Americans undercut recent efforts by the Nixon administration to deal with some of their problems.

"The President's problems are of such magnitude that he should not be bowed under the weight of an Agnew albatross," Mitchell said.

Joining in criticism of Agnew's Madrid remarks was Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Abernathy said Agnew is "the biggest complainer in America. He complains about a free press, constitutional dissent, civil rights and basic freedoms.

"Mr. Agnew says that black people should take constructive action. I believe the most constructive action black people can take is to help remove from public office irresponsible, bigoted and irrational politicians such as Spiro T. Agnew."

Chambers Given Ticket During Old Car Hassle

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Ernest Chambers was ticketed by police Tuesday during an incident at 27th and Lothrop streets in Omaha.

Patrolman R. E. Hunt said the incident started after he and his partner, Patrolman C. R. Bennett, attempted to remove a "completely derelict car" from the street on the north side of the Spencer Homes housing project.

Hunt said he and Bennett had called for a tow truck for a car which had earlier been declared dead storage, when a woman living nearby said not to tow the car away because it was hers

He said the officers agreed to her request that the car be taken instead, at her expense, to the yard of an acquaintance where it could be repaired since a tow truck had already been called.

Hunt then said Chambers drove up and told the woman not to allow the car to be moved and then Chambers refused four requests to move his car from Lothrop Street where cars and trucks were waiting to get by.

Hunt ticketed Chambers and the woman's car was towed away as originally planned.

The woman, Mrs. Ada Davis, said she had never been red-tagged for dead storage and that officers refused to allow the car to be towed to a nearby yard.

Chambers said he stopped at the home to inquire and backed Mrs. Davis' contention that it wasn't a junk car.

He said his own car wasn't obstructing traffic and he declined to move it because he was trying to help resolve the incident.

Chambers is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court at 9 a.m. Aug. 20 but may avoid the court appearance by pleading guilty and paying the $5 fine, Hunt said.

$2 Billion In Military Assistance Is Included In Foreign Aid Bill

Washington (AP) — A $3.4 billion foreign aid bill including $2 billion for Nixon Doctrine military assistance to bolster U.S. allies was completed Tuesday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee

A final committee vote on the bill, $1.5 billion over the current $1.9 billion U.S. aid program, was scheduled for Wednesday.

Chairman Thomas J. Morgan, D-Pa., said he hopes to get action in the House before its summer recess begins Aug. 6.

He's Optimistic

Morgan said he is optimistic the House will approve the bill despite its traditionally heavy opposition to foreign aid and the bill's huge dollar increase.

"This is an increase to support the Nixon Doctrine," Morgan said, "and I think that will pick up some votes."

The Nixon Doctrine is aimed at backing U.S. military allies with aid and arms and turning more required fighting over to them.

The committee extended the present foreign aid program two years instead of one to give it more time to study Nixon's proposed foreign aid overhaul program.

Morgan said, however, that he still hopes Congress will act on Nixon's proposal to split U.S. aid into separate military and economic development programs in one year.

$1.4 Billion Economic Aid

The committee's bill would authorize $1.4 billion for economic assistance, $1.5 billion for military assistance and $510 million in military credit sales for the 1972 fiscal year that started July 1. A nearly identical amount would be authorized for fiscal 1973.

But the committee voted last week to suspend all $118 million aid to the Greek military government unless the President declares the aid to be in the overriding U.S security interest and all $225 million to Pakistan until it restores order in East Pakistan.

Morgan said the committee cut a net $302 million from Nixon's total request for $3.5 billion but added $200 million for a net cut of $102 million.

The major cuts, he said, were $180 million from the President's $580 million request for economic development loans and $50 million from the $482 million request for Alliance for Progress aid in South America. He said a staff study found "too much fat in those two proposals."

The committee additions, he said, were $100 million for Pakistani refugee relief and $100 million for population control programs.

Trader Shouts 'Sell Gold!' And Auction Market Is Open

©The New York Times

Los Angeles — "Sell Jan. gold at $59.50," a trader shouted an instant after the 7 a.m. opening bell on the West Coast Commodity Exchange Tuesday. "Sold," came the instant reply. Then a raucous cluster of bids was sent up by some 20 traders, their arms flailing the air in the body language of money.

The first auction market for gold futures in the 300-year-old history of commodities exchanges in the United States and abroad had been established.

Trading began as planned, despite an announcement by the U.S. Treasury last week that the exchange's plans for trading in gold were illegal and would not be permitted. The exchange filed suit in federal district court last week to restrain the government from interfering with its business. The government has yet to reply to the suit.

Garry Young, a 21-year-old board marker, worked frantically to keep up with the bidding, chalking the prices on the board. Gold for January delivery opened at $59.50 an ounce, March at $61, May at $62.50, July at $64, September at $67 and December at $71.

At 7:08 Donald S. Mart, a trader, walked into the trading pit and bellowed above the din, "The London fix is $40.90."

There was a near silence of several seconds as traders sorted out the news from the London gold exchange, a group of five private companies that has traditionally set the price of gold in the free market with daily "fixings."

Trading quickly resumed, but prices began to tumble. Gold trading in Los Angeles was to break the London monopoly and set prices through auction for the first time. Now, lacking precedent and with the threat of government intervention, traders tended to whittle their bids closer to the London price. Five full minutes after the opening, the first bid for silver was heard. Then one for sugar.

Loophole Found

The Gold Reserve Act of 1934 prohibits U.S. citizens from owning gold, except as jewelry or in coin collections. But David Callahan, president of the West Coast Commodity Exchange, found a loophole in the law that exempted gold coins minted before 1934.

As a base for its futures trading, the exchange is using pre-1934 British gold sovereigns, 500 million of which were minted with a total value of about $6 billion.

"I fully expected a U.S. marshal to step up and arrest Callahan at any minute," one broker said after the initial flurry or gold trading had waned.

By the noon closing, Callahan reported that the volume of gold trading was the largest first-day amount for a new commodity. A total of 271 gold contracts traded hands out of 506 for all of the commodities traded on the exchange. Closing prices were $59 for January, $60.50 for March, $62.05 for May, $63.50 for July, $66.30 for September and $68.60 for December.

Housing Programs Said Accepted By Public

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

Housing Administrator Carl Kopines told the City Council Tuesday evening that the efforts of his office during the past year have centered around the implementation of local programs to improve housing conditions that would be acceptable to the people.

"I feel we have gotten public acceptance," Kopines said during a budget review session. He pointed to the lack of appeals to the Housing Appeals Board and the complaints to his office as indicators of the success of his efforts.

Kopines, who is responsible for administering the minimum standards housing code, said his neighborhood improvement program — now underway in the 27th and South vicinity — emphasizes voluntary compliance.

Little Reaction Since

He reminded council members that only four years ago, minimum housing was the focus of controversy. He added that there has been little reaction since his office has enforced the housing code.

Kopines said his cooperative approach to help residents improve housing has made noticeable gains in the appearance of homes in the neighborhood improvement plan (NIP) area.

He added though the problem is those in the city who own rentals in the area who refuse to voluntarily comply.

"We will reach the point where we will have to get at them through other programs," he said.

Kopines proposed in his budget of $69,984 for the upcoming fiscal year the creation of an additional position titled research and development programmer who would have the responsibility for analyzing housing conditions on a block-by-block basis and develop and prepare programs, including federally subsidized programs, to improve the neighborhood.

Two additional housing consultants to survey homes and premises are also being requested.

The addition of the staff brought forth a response from Council Chairman Dick Hartsock that he was bothered by what to him appeared to be empire building. Hartsock said each year the staff and funds have increased.

Hartsock indicated during ensuing discussions his concern pertained to the tangible benefits accomplished by present personnel and the justification for the additional personnel.

'Not Getting Solutions'

"We are not getting at the solutions to the problems," Hartsock remarked.

Kopines said he would be glad to submit data to the council on the accomplishments of his office and the justification for the staff.

Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis, a strong supporter of increased city involvement in housing, said that "it is unfortunate that something like this (the efforts underway) didn't develop many years ago."

Efforts Worthwhile

Mrs. Boosalis said the efforts of Kopines office are worthwhile if they can help improve areas, maintain the tax base and help people to live in better conditions.

"We do not have a more critical problem than housing. We are way behind in anything we do," she said.

Council members also spent considerable time during the budget review going over proposed police department expenditures with much of the discussion on federal programs to be implemented and the cost of such programs to the city.

Police Budget

A budget of $2,557,067 is proposed as compared to $2,296,719 for the present fiscal year. Police Chief Joe Carroll has proposed no additional policemen except those which would be utilized in the federally funded Alcohol Safety Countermeasure Program and Law Enforcement Education Program.

Carroll said in regard to the incentive plan to pay policemen additional money for longevity (length of service on the police force) and college credits earned that of the 25 hired, all but seven had college training.

A supplemental budget request to increase the salary benefits for college credits and longevity from 2½% increments to 5% was not discussed at the meeting but will be at a later date.

Also covered were the budgets of the fire department and municipal court.

Housing Programs Said Accepted By Public

Housing Administrator Carl Kopines told the City Council Tuesday evening that the efforts of his office during the past year have centered around the implementation of local programs to improve housing conditions that would be acceptable to the people.

"I feel we have gotten public acceptance," Kopines said during a budget review session. He pointed to the lack of appeals to the Housing Appeals Board and the complaints to his office as indicators of the success of his efforts.

Kopines proposed in his budget of $69,984 for the upcoming fiscal year the creation of an additional position titled research and development programmer who would have the responsibility for analyzing housing conditions on a block-by-block basis and develop and prepare programs, including federally subsidized programs, to improve the neighborhood.

Two additional housing consultants to survey homes and premises are also being requested.

The addition of the staff brought forth a response from Council Chairman Dick Hartsock that he was bothered by what to him appeared to be empire building. Hartsock said each year the staff and funds have increased.

Hartsock indicated during ensuing discussions his concern pertained to the tangible benefits accomplished by present personnel and the justification for the additional personnel.

'Not Getting Solutions'

"We are not getting at the solutions to the problems," Hartsock remarked.

Kopines said he would be glad to submit data to the council on the accomplishments of his office and the justification for the staff.

Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis, a strong supporter of increased city involvement in housing, said that "it is unfortunate that something like this (the efforts underway) didn't develop many years ago."

Efforts Worthwhile

Mrs. Boosalis said the efforts of Kopines office are worthwhile if they can help improve areas, maintain the tax base and help people to live in better conditions.

"We do not have a more critical problem than housing. We are way behind in anything we do," she said.

Council members also spent considerable time during the budget review going over proposed police department expenditures with much of the discussion on federal programs to be implemented and the cost of such programs to the city.

Police Budget

A budget of $2,557,067 is proposed as compared to $2,296,719 for the present fiscal year. Police Chief Joe Carroll has proposed no additional policemen except those which would be utilized in the federally funded Alcohol Safety Countermeasure Program and Law Enforcement Education Program.

Carroll said in regard to the incentive plan to pay policemen additional money for longevity (length of service on the police force) and college credits earned that of the 25 hired, all but seven had college training.

A supplemental budget request to increase the salary benefits for college credits and longevity from 2½% increments to 5% was not discussed at the meeting but will be at a later date.

Also covered were the budgets of the fire department and municipal court.

Russia Still Opposed To Indochina Conference

(c) New York Times News Service

Moscow — Support for Peking's admission to the United Nations was reaffirmed by the Soviet Union Tuesday and it also affirmed its opposition to an international conference on Indochina. The opposition to another Geneva-style settlement appeared to indicate similar opposition by the North Vietnamese since the Soviet Union usually carefully coordinates foreign policy statements with Hanoi. Soup Plant Not Inspected Lately

New York — State and federal officials acknowledged that the Bob Vivant Soup Co. plant had not been inspected by the Food and Drug Administration for more than four years nor by the New Jersey Health Department for nearly five years before botulism was traced to one of its cans of vichyssoise. A federal official said the last inspection was in 1967, but he refused to disclose the results.

Taiwan Sign Needed Soon

Washington — Foreign diplomats who have conferred with the Nixon administration in the past several days said the United States' hopes of keeping Nationalist China in the United Nations might collapse unless Taiwan indicates soon how it would react to the admission of Communist China.

Washington — A contract covering more than 650,000 postal workers was signed by the United States Postal Service and seven postal unions. Inter-Arab Anger Mounts

Ram Tha, Jordan — Artillery attacks across their common border were reported by both Syria and Jordan as inter-Arab anger mounted in the wake of Jordan's crackdown on the Arab guerrillas. Washington — The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved a $3.44 billion foreign aid authorization for the current fiscal year. (More on Page 1.)

Republicans Surprised

Washington — Senate Democrats caught the Republicans by surprise as they called up for consideration the election reform bill designed to limit campaign spending. Since the campaign bill would precede the legislation for loan guarantees for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. it would place the Republicans in the position of having to vote for the campaign bill in order to get the loan bill. (More on Page 20.)

New York CWA Rejects Pact

New York — Local Communications Workers of America union leaders told about 50,000 New York state Bell System workers not to return to work despite a nationwide contract agreement reached Monday between the union and the system. The local leaders rejected the settlement, which calls for a 33.5% increase in wage and benefits over three years.

Economist Galbraith Favors Federal Wage-Price Control

World News

Washington (UPI) — Economist John Kenneth Gailbraith called Tuesday for a controlled American economy under which the government would make most wage and price decisions.

Abandoning the Keynesian theories which have been standard liberal economic dogma for the past 40 years, Galbraith said only permanent government controls can crack the power of big labor and big business to impose inflation and its resulting unemployment on the economy.

His proposal drew fire from conservative Rep. Ben. B. Blackburn, R-Ga., who said America's private enterprise economy —despite occasional "lumps and headaches" — had provided a prosperity unequalled in the controlled economies of other nations.

Galbraith, a liberal Democrat from Harvard who formerly headed the Americans for Democratic Action, outlined a plan before the House-Senate Economic Committee under which the government would regulate the prices of the nation's 1,000 or 2,000 largest firms and the wages paid the members of the largest labor unions.

He said the controls would have to be preceded by a six-month wage-price freeze on the entire economy "to break the structure of inflationary expectations on which all collective bargaining now proceeds."

Galbraith said the theories of John Maynard Keynes no longer apply to the U.S. Economy because of the enormous power of labor and industry to impose inflationary decisions on the economy.

Keynes held that governments could stabilize prices and unemployment rates by manipulating the money supply and the rate at which money is pumped into the economy through government spending. He advocated deficits during slumps and surpluses when excessive spending would ignite inflation.

But Keynes no longer applies, Galbraith argued, because of the power of unions to win wage hikes and of corporations to make price increases stick even during periods of high unemployment.

Recalling that President Nixon last winter proclaimed himself "a Keynesian" and called for a big deficit in the budget, Galbraith told the committee: "It would be amusing were it not said that Mr. Nixon has proclaimed himself a Keynesian at the moment in history when Keynes has become obsolete."

Galbraith said controls, to be effective, need only apply to the largest unions and largest firms, those employing 5,000 or more people. This would exempt farmers, retailers, small manufacturers and service industries from controls.

TAX EXEMPTIONS HIT

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace talks to newsmen at the Capitol in Washington after Alabama asked the Supreme Court to end tax exemptions for private foundations that are "only superficially charitable, religious, educational or scientific in their operation." The complaint, filed in Wallace's name, sought a hearing in the high court under the constitutional provision on disputes in which a state is a party.

Countdown Under Way

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Electric power surged into a giant Saturn 5 rocket Tuesday as the six-day countdown began for Apollo 15, a science expedition to the mountains of the moon.

The countdown clock started at 5:30 a.m. CDT, aiming for a launching of the Saturn 5 next Monday at 8:34 a.m. early activity included powering the rocket's three stages and installing batteries in the lunar landing craft.

Draft Lottery To Be Aug. 5

Washington (UPI) — The Selective Service will hold its third annual draft lottery Aug. 5 to determine the order in which young men will be called up next year.

The drawing will begin at 9 a.m. CDT Aug. 5 in the Commerce Department auditorium here.

Six young people from across the country will take turns drawing capsules from two clear plastic drums to decide when youths turning 19 years of age this year are likely to be drafted in 1972, according to their birth dates.

Nixon Nominates Oil Lawyer As Power Regulator

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon Tuesday nominated Rush Moody Jr., a Democrat and oil and gas specialist lawyer from Midland, Tex., to the Federal Power Commission.

If approved by the Senate, Moody, who turns 41 Wednesday, would succeed Lawrence J. O'Conner Jr., whose term expired.

Some critics are expected to oppose Moody's selection on grounds he is too close to the industry to be an impartial commission member.

Princess To Visit

London (AP) — Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth II, will visit Winnipeg, Canada, in September to open a new art gallery.

Eastern Cambodia Viet Target Again

Saigon (AP) —South Vietnam launched its largest operation in six months Wednesday in eastern Cambodia with the announced aim of providing security for the forthcoming South Vietnamese elections.

In South Vietnam, heavy U.S. air raids and a surge in North Vietnamese shelling attacks broke a 24-day lull in the war.

The new Cambodian drive employs 10,000 men already positioned at Cambodian bases, reinforced by a fresh armored brigade. Two hundred armored vehicles are spearheading it.

"Our mission," said Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of the operation, "is to cut off North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam, to prevent the enemy from sabotaging the elections. We must provide security for the election campaign."

There were no immediate reports of contact with the enemy.

The campaign is the largest Minh has mounted since he took over last February as commander of the 3rd Military Region, which embraces Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces. The region shares more than 200 miles of border with Cambodia.

Minh said his forces were operating about 20 miles inside Cambodia and about 10 miles north of Highway 7, a key North Vietnamese infiltration route from Cambodia into South Vietnam's southern half.

The commander said he planned to "saturate the area" from the Cambodian town of Krek eastward to the town of Mimot along Highway 7 and northward.

"We want to clear the area and look for caches," he said. The drive's target, he added, is the North Vietnamese 7th Division, which has long operated in the area north and east of Tay Ninh.

The South Vietnamese are using 66 artillery pieces — including 105mm and 155mm guns — to shell the area, Minh said, and U.S. helicopters are supporting the operation.

Marines Punish Harsh Trainer

Parris Island, S.C. (UPI) — A Marine drill instructor was fined $100 and relieved of all training responsibilities Tuesday for forcing a group of recruits to do so many push-ups that they were sent to a hospital with kidney ailments.

The DI, Staff Sgt. W. L. Sutton, 27, of Bigo, Ind., was also assigned to another duty station. Two other drill instructors at the Marine Corps' recruit training depot here were cleared of charges in the incident.

Thirty-nine recruits were hospitalized July 3, all suffering from rhabdomyolysis, also known as "athletes' kidney," an ailment caused by unaccustomed exercise of the upper part of the body.

Senate OKs Schedule Of AEC Aleutian Test

Washington (UPI) — The Senate refused Tuesday to force a delay in U.S. underground nuclear explosion this fall in the Aleutian Islands, which the Defense Department acknowledged for the first time was intended to test a key element in the safeguard antiballistic missile system.

By a roll call vote of 57 to 37, the Senate rejected a proposal by members from Alaska and Hawaii that would have forced postponement of the scheduled test from early October until May 31, unless President Nixon ruled an earlier date essential to national security.

The amendment's sponsors, Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Rebublican Hiram Fong and Democrat Daniel Inouye of Hawaii, cited fears of earthquakes and devastating tidal waves, dangers which the government has discounted.

The Senate also defeated an amendment by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, that would have postponed the test until the end of the fiscal year next June 30 or the conclusion of the Soviet-American arms control talks, whichever was sooner. The vote was 64 to 28.

Conte To Defer Battle For Limit On Farm Support

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., conceded defeat Tuesday in his efforts to limit farm support payments to $20,000 a year on each of a farmer's wheat, cotton and feed grain programs. But he vowed to try again next year when he said the pressure of presidential politics should help him.

A leader in the fight to lower the subsidy ceiling, Conte said he would not bind members of a House conference committee to the $20,000 per crop annual limit the House approved earlier as part of the Agriculture Department's $12.4 billion appropriation.

The Senate rejected the lower House figure when it approved the appropriation measure for the fiscal year that began July 1.

Elms: Impossible To Predict Rail Strike Effect On Harvest

By the Associated Press

Howard Elms, executive vice-president of the Nebraska Association of Grain and Feed Dealers, said Tuesday, "it's impossible" to estimate the effect of the current railroad strike on Nebraska's wheat harvest.

The Union Pacific is one of the railroads being struck and indications are that the strike which began last week may last for some time.

However, Elms did estimate that the cost of first storing the wheat on the ground and then picking it up for shipping at a later date at about five cents per bushel.

As for how much wheat will be stored on the ground or what the effect would be on such wheat, Elms said it couldn't be estimated.

"The only way of telling how much wheat is on the ground is by going out in the western end and counting the bushels," he explained. "And the condition of the wheat depends on two things — how dry it is when it's put there and how dry the weather stays. If the wheat stays dry, it can remain on the ground indefinitely."

Elms said the harvest in the eastern end of the state is "pretty well done" but the situation is different in the Panhandle where "50% or more" of the crop has yet to be taken to market.

"The real effect of the strike is that it deprives farmers of the opportunity to sell their wheat," he said.

The Union Pacific serves most of the Panhandle area where wheat is now being stored on the ground after silos and grain elevators have been filled to overflowing.

Some of the wheat is being moved by truck, according to Elms, but there is no way to determine what amount of wheat is being moved by truck which would ordinarily be shipped via rail.

Strike Will Temporarily Halt Production Of Bombs At G.I.

Grand Island (AP) — Production of bombs on two lines at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Depot was to be halted temporarily as a result of the railroad strike, Lt. Col. Martin K. Marsh, commanding officer, reported Tuesday.

Col. Marsh said the rail strike has caused a shortage of ammonium nitrate, a component of the 750 pound bomb filler. He said production would cease at the end of the No. 3 shift about midnight Tuesday and would resume on all shifts Friday.

The shutdown of the two production lines involves about 542 contractor employes and a few Army inspectors.

Col. Marsh said eight-inch projectile production will not be interrupted.

The ammunition plant has four production lines.

16-Year-Old Electrocuted Accidentally

North Platte (AP) — A 16-year-old North Plate youth was electrocuted accidentally Monday night when he came in contact with a 13,800 volt power line, Lincoln County authorities reported.

Deputy Sheriff David Cheney said the youth, Larry Johnson, along with Leo Elm and Bryce Twidwell, apparently had climbed a 12-foot platform supporting the transformer, located between a drive-in movie and a mobile home park and were watching a movie when young Johnson came in contact with the high voltage power line.

The transformer is located just west of the city.

Johnson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Johnson of North Platte.

Leo Needs A Home

Chicago (UPI) — A new form of housing shortage cropped up here. The Animal Welfare League reported it was having difficulty finding a home for Leo, a 12-year-old lion which was seized from the King Brothers circus in suburban Tinley Park after an investigation disdosed the animal had been kept in a cramped cage, barely able to turn around, for the past four months.

Her death is the fourth in less than a year of an Indian held in the Alliance city and Box Butte County jail system.

Arrested the afternoon of July 15 on a charge of being drunk, the woman became ill in her cell during the night, it was reported. A rescue unit was called, but she was dead when the unit arrived, an official said.

Since Oct. 31 three Indian men have ended their lives by hanging in the Alliance city an Box Butte County jails, prompting criticism from Indian leaders in Nebraska who have called for an investigation.

Central Technical Board Approves $2,955,496 Budget

Hastings (AP) — Directors of the Central Nebraska Technical College have approved a budget of $2,955,496 for the 1971-1972 school year plus $115,226 to cover refunds due five counties.

Five of the counties in the district won a court decision supporting their claim of unduly high assessments in 1969

The budget calls for a mill levy of 1.92 for the 1971-1972 year, compared with 1.57 the previous year for all counties except Valley. Since Valley County this year joined the Central Nebraska Technical School district, it is not involved in the refund and hence will have to levy only 1.807 to meet its assessments.

The budget was adopted after a public hearing at which no objectors appeared.

The board turned down a request by women students that male visitors be allowed twice monthly in girls' dormitory rooms.

State Welfare Director Lawrence Graham said Tuesday a state welfare official will meet the the Phelps County Board of Commissioners and the County Welfare Board July 27 at 1:30 p.m. "to determine what action would be taken, if any" in alleged fund shortage in the county's welfare department.

Graham said Harold McGrew, director of the Food Stamp Program, would meet with the county officials. A joint statement would be issued after the meeting, Graham reported.

The Holdrege Daily Citizen has reported that an audit turned up a fund shortage of about $1,600 in county welfare funds.

According to Graham, the audit was conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Midwest regional office in Chicago.

The Food Stamp Program, although administered by the welfare department at the county level is a program of the USDA.

Graham said he didn't know what program the alleged shortage was in, but he said, "He would imagine it is concerned with the food stamp program."

All three units from the Ainsworth Fire Department were called to the 66x100 foot structure on the east edge of Ainsworth on U.S. 20 at 2 a.m. Tuesday. Two Bassett Fire Department units later were called to assist in case the fire should spread.

Firemen said the first sign of fire was noticed near a neon light transformer on the outside of the building. The fire rapidly spread along the roof and engulfed the 24-hour restaurant and service station.

The Bill Little family, which lived in the apartment above the cafe for the past nine years, was evacuated along with employes and some customers. Little managed the facility.

Paul Masters said he was not sure of the total dollar loss, but said he had $70,000 insurance on the structure which was opened May 10, 1947.

Water Group Will Bear Half Norden Dam Costs

O'Neill (AP) — Directors of the North Central Nebraska Reclamation District have unanimously decided to bear not less than half of the separable costs of the recreational project of the O'Neill Unit, better known as the Norden Dam project.

There has been some resistance to the project from ecology and environmental spokesmen.

The directors meeting in O'Neill unanimously adopted the motion declaring their intention and then submitted a letter to the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Alfred Drayton of O'Neill, co-chairman of the district, said this letter was to replace one withdrawn last week by the Nebraska State Game Commission.

The Reclamation Bureau had approved more than $98 million for the Norden Dam project on the Niobrara River and the connecting O'Neill Unit, for irrigation and recreation and the Game Commission was to have developed recreational areas near the reservoir and sponsor the project.

Dick Spady, assistant director of the commission, said he felt the withdrawal of commission support was "primarily for environmental considerations" and also for financial reasons.

Last week the assessor presented a warrant for $372.50 to cover the semi-monthly payment to Sunderman but the board withheld payment until Tuesday when on Suitter's advice they agreed to pay the new scale.

Jones had asked for a $53,815 budget and the board approved $51,850. They considered adding $1,000 to the budget to cover Sunderman's salary increase, but the increase was not acted upon.

Elms: Impossible To Predict Rail Strike Effect On Harvest

By the Associated Press

Howard Elms, executive vice-president of the Nebraska Association of Grain and Feed Dealers, said Tuesday, "it's impossible" to estimate the effect of the current railroad strike on Nebraska's wheat harvest.

The Union Pacific is one of the railroads being struck and indications are that the strike which began last week may last for some time

However, Elms did estimate that the cost of first storing the wheat on the ground and then picking it up for shipping at a later date at about five cents per bushel.

As for how much wheat will be stored on the ground or what the effect would be on such wheat, Elms said it couldn't be estimated.

"The only way of telling how much wheat is on the ground is by going out in the western end and counting the bushels," he explained. "And the condition of the wheat depends on two things — how dry it is when it's put there and how dry the weather stays. If the wheat stays dry, it can remain on the ground indefinitely."

Elms said the harvest in the eastern end of the state is "pretty well done" but the situation is different in the Panhandle where "50% or more" of the crop has yet to be taken to market.

"The real effect of the strike is that it deprives farmers of the opportunity to sell their wheat," he said.

The Union Pacific serves most of the Panhandle area where wheat is now being stored on the ground after silos and grain elevators have been filled to overflowing.

Some of the wheat is being moved by truck, according to Elms, but there is no way to determine what amount of wheat is being moved by truck which would ordinarily be shipped via rail.

Strike Will Temporarily Halt Production Of Bombs At G.I.

Grand Island (AP) —Production of bombs on two lines at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Depot was to be halted temporarily as a result of the railroad strike, Lt. Col. Martin K. Marsh, commanding officer, reported Tuesday.

Col. Marsh said the rail strike has caused a shortage of ammonium nitrate, a component of the 750 pound bomb filler. He said production would cease at the end of the No. 3 shift about midnight Tuesday and would resume on all shifts Friday.

The shutdown of the two production lines involves about 542 contractor employes and a few Army inspectors.

Col. Marsh said eight-inch projectile production will not be interrupted.

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

What is economics? What is the free enterprise system? Most of us think we know the answer to such fundamental questions but it is not difficult to discover that the answers are far more complicated than we might think.

In England, Parliament is said to have provided a tax cut program to give a shot in the arm to the country's stagnant economy, encourage industrial production, slash unemployment and halt inflation. If that doesn't convince you of the complexities of economics, then we don't know what would.

We admit it is beyond us to figure out how a tax cut, spread across individuals, business and industry, can accomplish so many diverse things. A tax cut may well stimulate the economy, if that is what the economy needs, but how can it fight inflation?

Again, we may not be very smart but we have always labored under the impression that the easier the money supply is, the more money that people have, the higher prices are inclined to go. Prices, in other words, pretty well reflect what the market will bear.

This is where many of the abuses by big business are found, in the establishment of prices that are excessive in the rate of profit they return. This is where the abuses are found in the rank of labor — in the wage settlements they insist upon that are out of line with man's productivity.

Yesterday, the Communications Workers of America settled with Bell Telephone Systems on a wage and fringe benefits package to be submitted to a vote of its membership. The package calls for a 33.5 per cent boost in wages and benefits over three years. That is clearly inflationary but such facts seem to be no deterrent at all to current wage settlements.

You wonder if it is within the realm of possibility for personal discipline ever to prevail in this nation in the area of sound economic policy. Such discipline is the only way in which economic problems can be solved without someone's getting hurt but it seems to be the last thing anyone wants to adopt.

The economic situation has an impact on life second to none. United Press International has found in a survey across the nation that failure of Congress to extend the draft law has not cut down on enlistments in the armed forces.

The main reason for this is the state of the economy. With so many young people unable to find jobs, they are going into the military.

This is a little bit deceiving but economics is a factor, in combination with other things. The young enlistees know that the draft will eventually be extended and that they will have to meet their military obligation one time or another so they are choosing to get it out of he way since they can't find jobs anyway.

Also, pay for the military has been improved. Additionally, military life has improved, from the point of view of personal freedom, and there is an opportunity in the military for a young man to obtain a vocational schooling that will be of benefit to him in civilian life.

Finally, the military does offer a good potential for travel, something a lot of young people feel they might be a long time getting under any other circumstances.

But government figures showed that the unemployment rate among draft-age young men was about three times as high as the national average of 5.6 per cent. When you shake down all the other reasons, the unemployment figure has to loom as a major boon for the military forces.

Another offshoot of the economy is the obvious conclusion that young people who want to enter the job market right out of high school are facing an uphill struggle. Much to their consternation, college graduates are finding out the same thing.

This points directly to the growing number of vocational schools where a young person can receive the training needed to qualify him for a specific job. Of course, a college education is still a great asset for a young person but it is not quite the key to economic security that it once was.

So the economy continues to bounce around like a ball, with curves and dips that touch our lives in an endless variety of ways. You can't pigeon-hole the economy because it is a highly complicated and delicate mechanism.

MARQUIS CHILDS
A Great Partnership

WASHINGTON — Stranger than any fiction are the twists and turns in the love-hate relationship between the United States and China over a century or more. The President's decision to visit Peking is the latest dramatic move in restoring what had once been a warm hands-across-the-Pacific friendship between the two Pacific powers.

The key to what happened lies with enigmatic, Western-oriented Premier Chou En-lai. The hope is that out of the Nixon visit, a new Indochina conference can be put together and the war in Vietnam brought to an end within that framework.

An incident occurred at the first Indochina conference in Geneva in 1954 that observers present felt contributed a lot to Chou's subsequent hostility. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, head of the American delegation, had promised the Asia-Firsters in the Senate that during his brief stay at the conference, he would not in any way recognize the presence of Chou En-lai or any other Chinese. In an anteroom immediately after the first session of the conference, Chou, according to an American present, started toward Dulles to greet him. The secretary turned his back and walked away.

A small incident, but, given Chinese sensitivity and the importance of face, an astute observer with long experience in Asia believes that Chou's hostility owed much to the snub. This may have been particularly true, since it was observed by delegates of other nations

Every sign makes clear that Chou today is eager for closer ties with the United States. William Atwood, publisher of Newsday, who did some of the most perceptive writing during his recent visit to China, told of the dinner Chou gave for several American correspondents. The dinner was reported in every newspaper in China under the heading, "Friendly Dinner with Americans."

After the Geneva conference, Chou signed telegrams to 22 American journalists informing them that visas would be awaiting them in Hong Kong at a specified date to visit the People's Republic. Dulles killed this when he announced that no Chinese journalists would be allowed to visit the United States, since China had no journalists—they were all intelligence agents.

Reports from Peking indicate that the Foreign Office and the Ministry of Information have been swamped by requests for visas. They come from journalists, businessmen, scientists, doctors who want to study the ancient practice of acupuncture and Chinese specialists of every kind and description In the Ministry of Information, only one or two individuals have expert knowledge of the American media. One of them is said to have asked an American visitor, "But who is Walter Cronkite?"

Another key figure in the unravelling of past hostilities for a new approach is Huang Hua, who is to be ambassador to Canada. Huang's arrival in Ottawa has been inexplicably delayed. It is believed he remained in Peking to take part in the talks between Chou and the President's national security adviser, Henry Kissinger.

As long ago as the Geneva conference, Huang was Chou's lieutenant. The Pentagon Papers reveal that at a critical point in the conference, he was entrusted with initiating an interview with Seymour Topping, then with the Associated Press, to say as an "unidentified high Chinese source" that under the agreement at Geneva, the United States would be expected to live up to the neutralization of Indochina. Topping, who later identified his source to Under-Secretary Bedell Smith sitting in for Dulles, said that when Huang spoke of the possibility of American bases in Indochina or an anti-communist pact in Southeast Asia, "he became very agitated, his hands shook, and his usually excellent English broke down, forcing him to work through an interpreter."

As ambassador to Canada, Huang will have an interest in all of North America. That is surely why he was assigned to this post after the Canadians and the Chinese negotiated their mutual recognition. As evidence of his stature, he stayed on at his post as ambassador to Egypt throughout the People's Revolution, although every other ambassador and most of their staffs were recalled to Peking to be disciplined.

In Chou, President Nixon has found a willing partner. They may travel a long way together

Health, Fundamental Right?

When E. J. Faulkner of Lincoln speaks in the area of health planning, people listen because he is an articulate and highly knowledgeable spokesman. But Faulkner also speaks with a bred-in bias, as do most people on most subjects.

Thus, when Faulkner answered the invitation to address the State Health Board on matters of health planning and insurance, he said some things with which we agree and some with which we would like to take issue. He was quite right in saying the impact of the Kennedy health insurance bill would be to destroy the private health insurance industry

We think this is exactly what the Kennedy plan would do Anything else would actually be impossible because with government standards and government administration, there simply would be no room for or purpose in having a private health insurance industry.

This, we think, is to take the nation too far too fast. It has to be admitted that we are at a crisis point of some degree in the health care field but we are not at the point where we should throw out the baby with the bath water.

Needed today is a plan that encourages universal health insurance coverage but maintains the role of private insurance carriers and keeps the government at arm's length. Faulkner spoke for the program sponsored by the Health Insurance Association of America.

It has some good points but it is weak in that it does nothing to encourage standards for benefits—to the existing health insurance structure. This is good, but is it enough?

There are at least three other plans in Congress, including one from the Nixon administration Hopefully, the plan finally adopted will rely upon private insurance carriers, will provide some inducement to individuals to obtain coverage, will establish benefit levels and will contain some means of guarding against abuse.

The latter is one of the most difficult matters of all. A plan which is an open door to hospitalization for all at the drop of a hat would lead to medical costs far worse than they are today.

Yet, how do we go about providing coverage when it is needed while withholding it when it is not needed? We are inclined to think that any plan ought to have deductibles or some other system of stopping indiscriminate hospitalization when such care is not essential.

Faulkner spoke, also, of the role of private individuals, known as consumers, in the health planning field. As well-meaning and dedicated as they might be, he said, lay persons on comprehensive health planning groups are "not very effective participants."

With this we take just about total exception. It is long past time, in fact, when more lay or consumer representation should be felt in the health care field. It is the near-total domination by the professionals that has gotten us to the sorry place in economics of health care that we now occupy.

Of course, the lay representatives are not experts but they are perfectly capable of recognizing the jealousies and habits which created so much of the inefficiency we now see in the area of primary health care.

Faulkner said that "you don't turn over management of the institutions to the inmates." By this he meant that the people who use the health care system should not be running it.

Yet, Faulkner himself has been president of the board of Bryan Mrmorial Hospital, a board that supposedly runs that institution. A board—a lay group the same as Bryan's—runs Lincoln General Hospital and a new lay board has been created to run St. Elizabeth Community Health Center.

All three of these hospitals have strong administrators and competent staffs. The boards certainly rely upon their administrators and staffs for technical advice and assistance but the boards make the policy decisions that are carried out by the administration of the institution.

The inmates, so to speak, are already running the institutions.

Nor is there any danger in their doing so. These inmates are the kind who live next door to you, the kind you married and the kind you have fathered or mothered. Most of the time, they stack up pretty well and they will generally go a long way to cooperate with the professionals in the field if given a chance to do so.

Hawaiian Trip

Lincoln, Neb

So the male members of the City Council voted to attend the League of Municipalities in Hawaii in December, the very weekend the Cornhuskers will be playing football there! How nice—and all at the taxpayers' expense — raising the conference's budget by 300 per cent, from $750 to $3,000.

Hurrah for Helen Boosalis for exposing this little trip! She suggested they limit their expenses to $500, but they did not agree. The $500 would more than pay their expenses over there, then if they want to go "out on the town," let them pay for that out of their own pockets. The taxpayers' pockets have been picked too often already.

If this is something the mayor can veto, I suggest he veto this item of expense: otherwise let us hope the voters will do some vetoing the next time they come up for election

How refreshing was the letter from "Sod-Buster" about Mike and other pets. Such a welcome relief from letters filled with complaints about teenagers, differences of political opinions, world peace (?) policies, neighbors who have the TV too loud, racial intolerance, differences of religious beliefs and other matters.

So few write about the simple, everyday pleasures in life Too many people miss their pets' potential for learning, thinking they are doing all they should by giving a pet food and water once in a while, and a walk around a tree once or twice a day.

My husband and I have two companions — a Vizla and a German Shepherd dog (AKC name for this breed). I refrain from calling them dogs, as we haven't told them that is the common name for them! My husband is very adept at the job of training them, and they respond to both vocal and hand signals. It is beautiful to watch them in a field with him, but it never ceases to amaze both of us how much they learn by themselves about one's daily routine and habits.

They ask nothing in return for their love and loyalty but love and approval. Sod-Buster sounds like a person who also appreciates and understands the interesting companionship and love of a pet.

Diseased Elm

Lincoln, Neb

Nebraska's most widespread and dangerous pestilence in each of its 93 counties is the spread of the poison of Dutch elm disease. It has been so long accepted as a bad condition that it seems to be entirely overlooked by the state pollution commission.

Villages that have been proud of their tree-lined streets are not able to have the dead trees outside of the sidewalks, hence city property, removed because of the expense, averaging $50 per tree, with no funds in the treasury and an indisposition to make a needed tax levy. Likewise, there are many humble homeowners in the cities as well as rural areas who are not able and cannot afford to hire professionals to cut down their personally owned diseased elms.

It is understood that the state forester will diagnose for the Dutch elm disease if samples of wood are sent to the farm campus

HORACE M. DAVIS

The Liberal

Omaha, Neb.

The driving force behind an American liberal is his over-developed, illogical, almost pathological sense of guilt about all the ills of suffering mankind and the world in general

This sense of guilt stems in part from affluence. Most liberals are affluent and don't know what an honest day's labor is like Much of it is due to liberalism's belief that mankind's ills are no fault of its own but are due to lack of education and faulty social institutions No blame must lie with the individual himself. No, sir-ee! Many have broken with the Christian doctrine of penitence and remission of sins.

Guilt turns the liberal into a fanatical reformer and do-gooder who must poke his nose into everyone else's business even when he knows nothing about, and generally speaking, he doesn't. His solution most often makes things worse. Always his answer for everything is permissiveness, a large dose of federal aid and more federal supervision and control.

What is needed is a psychiatric clinic where liberals can work off their sense of guilt without costing American taxpayers billions of dollars in foreign aid, welfarism and other liberal boondoggles. Selah!

Degrees Losing Prestige As Enrollments Dwindle

WASHINGTON — Who would have thought that Americans would turn against the concept of a college education with all the fury of a school of Great White Sharks? That's what is happening in the summer of 1971, with results that will become visible this fall when colleges open—and fail to open—across the nation.

Criticism of higher education is no new thing. Until the last year or two, though, a college degree had at least one saving grace: it led to a job. But in time of recession and big graduating classes, the B. A. degree commands all the buying power of a Confederate bill. At best it is qualifying the mediocre grad for work previously reserved for high school diploma-holders.

Desperate and bitter college leavers seek work even as clerks or waitresses, only to be told by employers that they are over-qualified. With the economy running out of jobs for mere college graduates, students are running out of patience with an academic system that sentences them to what one critic of mass education described as "four-year terms at involuntary studentude."

Some of the nation's brighter high school graduates have concluded that to enter college now would be both a waste of their time and of their parents' money. Six per cent of 1970 graduates from leading private preparatory schools elected not to go on to college right away, as against 4.5 per cent in 1969. And public school counsellors report more intellectually satiated graduates than usual deferring college in favor of travel or a work experience. Of such small and elusive trend are revolutions made.

Any diminution of college students hits first and hardest at private colleges which frequently rely on a full house and high tuitions for existence. Sharply reduced freshmen enrollments are in prospect for some of them this fall.

In the rich and populous Washington, D.C., area, for example, George Washington University expects to enroll 900 to 950 freshmen this September, compared with 1,150 in recent years. Trinity College will settle for 125 to 150 freshmen women instead of last fall's 190. American University extended its application deadline after a sudden slump in acceptances left it 75 short of its expected 1,250 freshmen.

Many colleges attempt to maintain customary admission standards despite failing applications. But few can afford the luxury for long. As tuitions are forced up, more and more students turn to tax-supported schooling.

The new fashion in higher education is the community college. These low-tuition, live-at-home systems are quietly mushrooming in a way that is transforming the college scene. Community colleges will claim three of every five students in U.S. higher education this year, compared with one in three 10 years ago.

While it is too early to conclude that the days of heedless degree-chasing are coming to an end, a fundamental shift of attitude seems to be taking place. Young people no longer are willing to let their adolescence be deliberately and foolishly prolonged by status-conscious employers, parents and teachers. The search will intensify for a higher education that has meaning in the changed economic and social climate of the 1970s.

ANTHONY LEWIS
Nixon China Visit Brings Many Questions; Hope Felt For Political Settlement In Asia

PARIS — In "The Making of the President 1968" Theodore White records a comment by Richard Nixon on the function of the American presidency.

"I have always thought this country could run itself domestically without a president," he said. "All you need is a competent cabinet to run the country at home. You need a president for foreign policy; no secretary of state is really important. The president makes foreign policy."

In one dramatic stroke, Nixon has now demonstrated the truth of that vision of the presidency in foreign affairs. His announcement that he will visit Peking reminds us that, in the American system, only the president can ultimately speak for his country abroad. Only he has the vision and the political power to change the old assumptions — to deal in the large with a changing world.

It is that sense of large possibilities in the Nixon move, of the opportunity for new beginnings, that has instantly lit the world's imagination.

Could the President conceivably visit Peking if, at the time, Americans were still fighting in Vietnam and bombing Northern Laos, not far from the Chinese border? Or does the agreement on his trip necessarily imply that Nixon and the Chinese leaders at least see the possibility of an end to the war now?

It is significant that the Chinese government has just changed its attitude toward the Paris peace talks. When they began, in 1968, Peking was against North Vietnam's even sitting down to talk with the Americans. But lately it has shown strong interest in a negotiated settlement, endorsing the new Viet Cong proposal.

Did Henry Kissinger, in his extaordinary 20 hours of talks with Premier Chou En-Lai, explore Chinese ideas on a settlement? Is the way open for presidential diplomacy?

Peking has not said, in terms, that the Vietnam war is an absolute obstacle to correct Sino-American relations. The one such obstacle, in the view maintained for a generation now, is American support for Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan. And so more questions present themselves.

Is some way out of the Taiwan dilemma emerging, some accommodation of our commitment to Chiang with Peking's commitment to one China? And what about American opposition to Peking as the sole Chinese member of the United Nations? Is there some new give in this area?

It would be foolish to assume that solutions are at hand for such old and bitter problems. But it is just as hard to believe that the People's Republic of China would welcome President Nixon unless there were at a minimum the promise of some movement on these questions.

But the President's announcement raises a hope even broader than the possibility of peace in Vietnam and normal Sino-American relations. That is the hope of a comprehensive political settlement in Asia.

Of course it is foolish to build great baroque dream castles in diplomacy. But there is a realistic basis for large-scale understanding between China and the United States — the different interests of the two countries.

China's first interest is Taiwan. Her fundamental disagreement with the Soviet Union makes her want powerful friends. Beyond that, Peking wants to resume a prominent role in world politics. To achieve any of those vital interests, she really must deal with the United States.

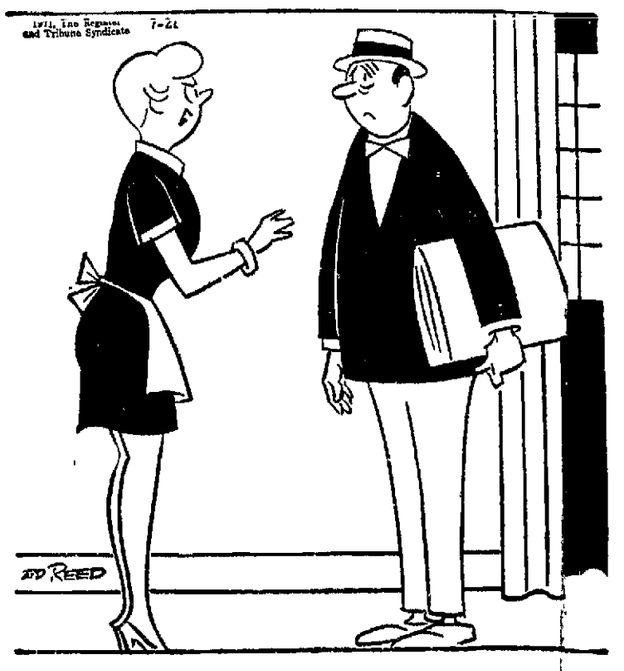

For the United States, getting out of the Vietnam morass is the first priority. Then we may have learned the impossibility of trying on our own, at our distance, to impose a stable political pattern on Asia. To do things, we need an accommodation with China — if she is, as we have begun to think, a China concerned primarily for her own national integrity and development, not with external expansion.

The announcement of the trip hardly solves the problems, and indeed it involves dangers. A specific one is the risk of upsetting Japanese politics. More generally, by announcing the trip a long but indefinite time in advance, Nixon may have given something of a hostage to fortune — for any act of his that made Peking break off the arrangements would be devastating to him.

But it is a time for hope, and in a strange way for the American domestic scene as well as foreign affairs. Even the beginning of success in this venture could end the long night of recrimination in the United States and restore the old faith and optimism.

Dulles killed this when he announced that no Chinese journalists would be allowed to visit the United States, since China had no journalists—they were all intelligence agents.

Reports from Peking indicate that the Foreign Office and the Ministry of Information have been swamped by requests for visas. They come from journalists, businessmen, scientists, doctors who want to study the ancient practice of acupuncture and Chinese specialists of every kind and description. In the Ministry of Information, only one or two individuals have expert knowledge of the American media. One of them is said to have asked an American visitor, "But who is Walter Cronkite?"

Another key figure in the unravelling of past hostilities for a new approach is Huang Hua, who is to be ambassador to Canada. Huang's arrival in Ottawa has been inexplicably delayed. It is believed he remained in Peking to take part in the talks between Chou and the President's national security adviser, Henry Kissinger.

As long ago as the Geneva conference, Huang was Chou's lieutenant. The Pentagon Papers reveal that at a critical point in the conference, he was entrusted with initiating an interview with Seymour Topping, then with the Associated Press, to say as an "unidentified high Chinese source" that under the agreement at Geneva, the United States would be expected to live up to the neutralization of Indochina. Topping, who later identified his source to Under-Secretary Bedell Smith sitting in for Dulles, said that when Huang spoke of the possibility of American bases in Indochina or an anti-communist pact in Southeast Asia, "he became very agitated, his hands shook, and his usually excellent English broke down, forcing him to work through an interpreter."

As ambassador to Canada, Huang will have an interest in all of North America. That is surely why he was assigned to this post after the Canadians and the Chinese negotiated their mutual recognition. As evidence of his stature, he stayed on at his post as ambassador to Egypt throughout the People's Revolution, although every other ambassador and most of their staffs were recalled to Peking to be disciplined.

In Chou, President Nixon has found a willing partner. They may travel a long way together.

Hawaiian Trip

Lincoln, Neb.

So the male members of the City Council voted to attend the League of Municipalities in Hawaii in December, the very weekend the Cornhuskers will be playing football there! How nice—and all at the taxpayers' expense — raising the conference's budget by 300 per cent, from $750 to $3,000.

Hurrah for Helen Boosalis for exposing this little trip! She suggested they limit their expenses to $500, but they did not agree. The $500 would more than pay their expenses over there, then if they want to go "out on the town," let them pay for that out of their own pockets. The taxpayers' pockets have been picked too often already.

If this is something the mayor can veto, I suggest he veto this item of expense; otherwise let us hope the voters will do some vetoing the next time they come up for election.

Companions

Bennet, Neb.

How refreshing was the letter from "Sod-Buster" about Mike and other pets. Such a welcome relief from letters filled with complaints about teenagers, differences of political opinions, world peace (?) policies, neighbors who have the TV too loud, racial intolerance, differences of religious beliefs and other matters.

So few write about the simple, everyday pleasures in life. Too many people miss their pets' potential for learning, thinking they are doing all they should by giving a pet food and water once in a while, and a walk around a tree once or twice a day.

My husband and I have two companions — a Vizla and a German Shepherd dog (AKC name for this breed). I refrain from calling them dogs, as we haven't told them that is the common name for them! My husband is very adept at the job of training them, and they respond to both vocal and hand signals. It is beautiful to watch them in a field with him, but it never ceases to amaze both of us how much they learn by themselves about one's daily routine and habits.

They ask nothing in return for their love and loyalty but love and approval. Sod-Buster sounds like a person who also appreciates and understands the interesting companionship and love of a pet.

Diseased Elm

Lincoln, Neb.

Nebraska's most widespread and dangerous pestilence in each of its 93 counties is the spread of the poison of Dutch elm disease. It has been so long accepted as a bad condition that it seems to be entirely overlooked by the state pollution commission.

Villages that have been proud of their tree-lined streets are not able to have the dead trees outside of the sidewalks, hence city property, removed because of the expense, averaging $50 per tree, with no funds in the treasury and an indisposition to make a needed tax levy. Likewise, there are many humble homeowners in the cities as well as rural areas who are not able and cannot afford to hire professionals to cut down their personally owned diseased elms.

It is understood that the state forester will diagnose for the Dutch elm disease if samples of wood are sent to the farm campus.

The Liberal

Omaha, Neb.

The driving force behind an American liberal is his overdeveloped, illogical, almost pathological sense of guilt about all the ills of suffering mankind and the world in general.

This sense of guilt stems in part from affluence. Most liberals are affluent and don't know what an honest day's labor is like. Much of it is due to liberalism's belief that mankind's ills are no fault of its own but are due to lack of education and faulty social institutions. No blame must lie with the individual himself. No, sir-ee! Many have broken with the Christian doctrine of penitence and remission of sins.

Guilt turns the liberal into a fanatical reformer and do-gooder who must poke his nose into everyone else's business even when he knows nothing about, and generally speaking, he doesn't. His solution most often makes things worse. Always his answer for everything is permissiveness, a large dose of federal aid and more federal supervision and control.

What is needed is a psychiatric clinic where liberals can work off their sense of guilt without costing American taxpayers billions of dollars in foreign aid, welfarism and other liberal boondoggles. Selah!

Degrees Losing Prestige As Enrollments Dwindle

WASHINGTON — Who would have thought that Americans would turn against the concept of a college education with all the fury of a school of Great White Sharks? That's what is happening in the summer of 1971, with results that will become visible this fall when colleges open—and fail to open—across the nation.

Criticism of higher education is no new thing. Until the last year or two, though, a college degree had at least one saving grace: it led to a job. But in time of recession and big graduating classes, the B. A. degree commands all the buying power of a Confederate bill. At best it is qualifying the mediocre grad for work previously reserved for high school diploma-holders.

Desperate and bitter college leavers seek work even as clerks or waitresses, only to be told by employers that they are over-qualified. With the economy running out of jobs for mere college graduates, students are running out of patience with an academic system that sentences them to what one critic of mass education described as "four-year terms at involuntary studentude."

Some of the nation's brighter high school graduates have concluded that to enter college now would be both a waste of their time and of their parents' money. Six per cent of 1970 graduates from leading private preparatory schools elected not to go on to college right away, as against 4.5 per cent in 1969. And public school counsellors report more intellectually satiated graduates than usual deferring college in favor of travel or a work experience. Of such small and elusive trend are revolutions made.

Any diminution of college students hits first and hardest at private colleges which frequently rely on a full house and high tuitions for existence. Sharply reduced freshmen enrollments are in prospect for some of them this fall.

In the rich and populous Washington, D.C., area, for example, George Washington University expects to enroll 900 to 950 freshmen this September, compared with 1,150 in recent years. Trinity College will settle for 125 to 150 freshmen women instead of last fall's 190. American University extended its application deadline after a sudden slump in acceptances left it 75 short of its expected 1,250 freshmen.

Many colleges attempt to maintain customary admission standards despite falling applications. But few can afford the luxury for long. As tuitions are forced up, more and more students turn to tax-supported schooling.

The new fashion in higher education is the community college. These low-tuition, live-at-home systems are quietly mushrooming in a way that is transforming the college scene. Community colleges will claim three of every five students in U.S. higher education this year, compared with one in three 10 years ago.

While it is too early to conclude that the days of heedless degree-chasing are coming to an end, a fundamental shift of attitude seems to be taking place. Young people no longer are willing to let their adolescence be deliberately and foolishly prolonged by status-conscious employers, parents and teachers. The search will intensify for a higher education that has meaning in the changed economic and social climate of the 1970s.

ANTHONY LEWIS
Nixon China Visit Brings Many Questions; Hope Felt For Political Settlement In Asia

PARIS — In "The Making of the President 1968" Theodore White records a comment by Richard Nixon on the function of the American presidency.

"I have always thought this country could run itself domestically without a president," he said. "All you need is a competent cabinet to run the country at home. You need a president for foreign policy; no secretary of state is really important. The president makes foreign policy."

In one dramatic stroke, Nixon has now demonstrated the truth of that vision of the presidency in foreign affairs. His announcement that he will visit Peking reminds us that, in the American system, only the president can ultimately speak for his country abroad. Only he has the vision and the political power to change the old assumptions — to deal in the large with a changing world.

It is that sense of large possibilities in the Nixon move, of the opportunity for new beginnings, that has instantly lit the world's imagination.

Could the President conceivably visit Peking if, at the time, Americans were still fighting in Vietnam and bombing Northern Laos, not far from the Chinese border? Or does the agreement on his trip necessarily imply that Nixon and the Chinese leaders at least see the possibility of an end to the war now?

It is significant that the Chinese government has just changed its attitude toward the Paris peace talks. When they began, in 1968, Peking was against North Vietnam's even sitting down to talk with the Americans. But lately it has shown strong interest in a negotiated settlement, endorsing the new Viet Cong proposal.

Did Henry Kissinger, in his extaordinary 20 hours of talks with Premier Chou En-Lai, explore Chinese ideas on a settlement? Is the way open for presidential diplomacy?

Peking has not said, in terms, that the Vietnam war is an absolute obstacle to correct Sino-American relations. The one such obstacle, in the view maintained for a generation now, is American support for Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan. And so more questions present themselves.

Is some way out of the Taiwan dilemma emerging, some accommodation of our commitment to Chiang with Peking's commitment to one China? And what about American opposition to Peking as the sole Chinese member of the United Nations? Is there some new give in this area?

It would be foolish to assume that solutions are at hand for such old and bitter problems. But it is just as hard to believe that the People's Republic of China would welcome President Nixon unless there were at a minimum the promise of some movement on these questions.

But the President's announcement raises a hope even broader than the possibility of peace in Vietnam and normal Sino-American relations. That is the hope of a comprehensive political settlement in Asia.

Of course it is foolish to build great baroque dream castles in diplomacy. But there is a realistic basis for large-scale understanding between China and the United States — the different interests of the two countries.

China's first interest is Taiwan. Her fundamental disagreement with the Soviet Union makes her want powerful friends. Beyond that, Peking wants to resume a prominent role in world politics. To achieve any of those vital interests, she really must deal with the United States.

For the United States, getting out of the Vietnam morass is the first priority. Then we may have learned the impossibility of trying on our own, at our distance, to impose a stable political pattern on Asia. To do things, we need an accommodation with China — if she is, as we have begun to think, a China concerned primarily for her own national integrity and development, not with external expansion.

The announcement of the trip hardly solves the problems, and indeed it involves dangers. A specific one is the risk of upsetting Japanese politics. More generally, by announcing the trip a long but indefinite time in advance, Nixon may have given something of a hostage to fortune — for any act of his that made Peking break off the arrangements would be devastating to him.

But it is a time for hope, and in a strange way for the American domestic scene as well as foreign affairs. Even the beginning of success in this venture could end the long night of recrimination in the United States and restore the old faith and optimism.

Ship Inspector Takes Superficial Look; No Arms Suspected

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — The freighter Padma, which has been a center of controversy over arms shipments to Pakistan, was inspected Tuesday by Coast Guard personnel who later said, "We have no reason to suspect there are any arms aboard."

The vessel, which earlier had been reported to be carrying U.S. arms to Pakistan in violation of a presidential order, tied up at a private dock in Jacksonville after arriving from Baltimore, Md.

Rolls of brown paper were to be loaded onto the ship here.

Chief Says He Checked

Chief Alfred Rosenberg of the Coast Guard said he primarily checked the vessel for possible mixture of dangerous cargo in violation of regulations. He said he found no violations.

The Coast Guard inspector said he looked into all five holds up the vessel and checked its manifest. But he didn't go down into any hold or open any crates.

"Unless we were sure there was something aboard, we would not go into the crates and open them," he said. "It would cost Uncle Sam if we did that and found it was general cargo as listed."

Newsmen Barred

Newsmen, after being barred from the vessel, contacted the ship's agents in New York City and were told arrangements would be made for them to board. After several hours a local television newsman was allowed on board, but was not permitted to take film or look into the holds.

The ship left New York harbor June 22 reportedly carrying arms. The U.S. State Department later said that nearly all of the military equipment on board was spare parts, mostly for aircraft and vehicles.

Persons protesting reports of the arms shipment demonstrated when the freighter went to Montreal and later when it was in Baltimore.

Over 2,000 Rounds

The controversy began when State Department press officer Charles W. Bray said the Padma was carrying more than 2,000 rounds of small caliber ammunition and spare parts for aircraft and vehicles, under licenses issued before March 25.

On March 25, President Nixon ordered a halt to arms deliveries to the Pakistani government after West Pakistani troops cracked down on secessionist rebels in East Pakistan.

Last Saturday, two longshoremen who helped load the Padma in Baltimore claimed they spotted at least two cannon in the vessel. A newman who tried to investigate was ordered off the ship.

Allen F. Elia, spokesman for East-West Shipping Agency in New York, agent for the Padma, said last Friday, "The extent of so called ammunition aboard is 10 boxes of single-smoke flares — and that is hardly ammunition."

The State Department also has said that the Padma contains $1,231,158 in military spare parts.

These include $924,329 in aircraft spare parts and $184,187 in spare parts for military vehicles, as well as small amounts of electronic, artillery and vessels spare parts.

Bray said the military equipment was loaded aboard the Padma in New York in June.

Committee Approves Constitutional Convention Rules

Washington (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved a bill Tuesday to establish procedures for constitutional conventions called by Congress in response to petitions of state legislatures.

A key feature of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., would restrict any such convention to the specific subjects set out in calling it.

Ervin said this was designed "to ensure that we never will have a runaway convention that might attempt to make wholesale changes in the Constitution."

Ervin noted that a move is afoot in the state legislatures to force Congress to call a convention to propose constitutional amendments dealing with revenue sharing.

No constitutional convention has been held since the first one, but Ervin and others have expressed concern that if one is forced it could create a constitutional crisis in the absence of established guidelines

'Ambulance Chasing' Said Widespread In Philadelphia

Philadelphia (AP) — A secret report to the Philadelphia Bar Association claims "at least 100 lawyers" are improperly soliciting business in accident cases — contrary to the ethical code of their profession — and suggested a continuing sweeping investigation to root out what it termed "voluminous . . . corruption."

A copy of the report was obtained by the Philadelphia Bulletin and excerpts were published in Tuesday's editions.

Morton S. Jaffe, a Philadelphia lawyer who conducted the one-year, $116,000 probe — and handed up seven copies of his report to the bar last March 1 — said "the genuine cancerous condition is found in the personal injury field." He added:

"Unethical solicitation has been and continues to be rampant, brazen, unscrupulous and corrupting clients, lawyers, doctors and all on the periphery who participate in and promote the mentioned evil."

'Ambulance Chasing'

Such solicitation usually is called "ambulance chasing."

The Philadelphia Bar, with more than 5,000 members, has sought to keep the report under wraps, claiming lawyers can best police the ethics of other lawyers.

Jaffee, who spent 20 years in the military service as a legal counselor and now is back in private practice, called his investigation "incomplete."

"In the circumstances, and in the face of the revelations to date, it is astonishing that the Philadelphia Bar Association has elected not to continue the investigation with resolution and adequate funding, directed unequivocally to rooting out, once and for all the time, the corruption of solicitation," Jaffe said.

Finish Required

He told the bar officers that to fail to finish it would make a "mockery" of the profession and further heighten public dissatisfaction with the activities of lawyers.

In his 62-page report Jaffe said "we have identified 128 attorneys for firms which the bar must investigate in fulfillment of its responsibilities to police itself effectively."

Jaffe said that his probe found that 54 doctors, plus numerous insurance agents, police, runners and wreck chasers admitted referring persons injured in accidents to specific lawyers. We have found further that those who engage in unethical solicitation also engage in other questionable activities."

Peace Officers Trained On Gas Chromatograph

Lincoln Police Sgt. Pete Larimer and State Patrol Cpl. Franklyn Manning have completed training in the operation of the gas chromatograph, a device which chemically analyzes the alcohol content of a person's blood, a Lincoln Alcohol Safety Action Project spokesman said Tuesday.

Donald R. Nugent, project director, said the two officers underwent an intensive three-day training course at a private laboratory in San Bernadino, Calif.

The gas chromatograph, a sophisticated breath analyzer, has a legally recognized accuracy correlating to alcohol content determined by blood or urine analysis, according to Nugent.

Training Others

Nugent said the two officers will be training other officers within their respective law enforcement agencies.

Larimer said the Lincoln Police Department has assigned six officers to a specialized traffic squad which will direct enforcement efforts in reducing the number of drunken drivers in Lincoln.

The assigned officers are Robert Boyes, Richard Heaton, Robert Schultz, William Larsen, Kenneth Clark and Frank Kirtley.

Larimer, who will head the squad, indicated it would become operational on a limited basis in late August.

New Law Into Effect

Nugent said the State Patrol plans similar efforts then, when Nebraska's new law goes into effect allowing police to use pre-arrest chemical tests for the screening of motorists thought to be driving while intoxicated.

The gas chromatography, costing approximately $2,600, will permit law enforcement officers to obtain a highly accurate test after preliminary screening by a less-expensive breath analyzer kit, according to Nugent.

Most officers will carry a kit for pre-arrest use, bringing suspect cases to headquarters for further examination on the gas chromatograph, according to Nugent.

The screening test is a more sophicated tool that police can use in making field judgments concerning a drunken driving violation, according to Larimer.

He said the test is used for eliminating the possibility of shock, injury, disease or other drugs which can also cause abnormal behavior of the suspected violator.

Services Set Thursday For Dr. Lad J. Kucera

Funeral services for Dr. Lad J. Kucera, who was to become the new director of Lincoln's Veterans Hospital Aug. 1, will be held 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Church in Grand Island.

Dr. Kucera, 58, was to succeed Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, who retires July 31. Dr. Kucera had been director of the Grand Island Veterans Hospital since 1964.

No information was immediately available on how or when another successor to Dr. Boykin will be named by the VA. Dr. Kucera's appointment was announced earlier by Rep. Charles Thone, after the VA in Washington made the selection.

Although retirement is mandatory for Dr. Boykin, since he has reached age 65, hospital spokesmen believe the unexpected developments would make it possible for Dr. Boykin to remain temporarily if a successor is not named or cannot report by Aug. 1.

The meeting will begin at 9:15 a.m.

Military Police Arrest 1,136 GIs For Heroin Use

Saigon (UPI) U.S. Military Police arrested 1,136 GIs on heroin charges in June, nearly as many as in all of last year, U.S. command statistics said Tuesday.

U.S. sources said to a large degree the increase was due to sharply increased surveillance and military police activity. They said there was no way to tell whether the increases also reflected a growing level of heroin usage among GIs since January, when only 240 arrests were made.

Xerox Reports Record Earnings

Rochester, N.Y. (AP) — The Xerox Corp. reported record earnings and revenue Tuesday for the second quarter and first half of 1971.

The company's net income for the three months ending June 30 was $52.9 million or 67 cents a share compared with $47.8 million or 61 cents a share for the same period in 1970. Revenue totaled $498.6 million compared to $428.3 million the year before.

N.Y. Beaches Open

New York (UPI) — Coney Island beaches have been cleared of oil and in most areas are open for swimming, the parks department announced.

An oil spill from a U.S. Navy transport contaminated the Brooklyn beaches, limiting their use during the weekend.

Peace Officers Trained On Gas Chromatograph

Lincoln Police Sgt. Pete Larimer and State Patrol Cpl. Franklyn Manning have completed training in the operation of the gas chromatograph, a device which chemically analyzes the alcohol content of a person's blood, a Lincoln Alcohol Safety Action Project spokesman said Tuesday.

Donald R. Nugent, project director, said the two officers underwent an intensive three-day training course at a private laboratory in San Bernadino, Calif.

The gas chromatograph, a sophisticated breath analyzer, has a legally recognized accuracy correlating to alcohol content determined by blood or urine analysis, according to Nugent.

Training Others

Nugent said the two officers will be training other officers within their respective law enforcement agencies.

Larimer said the Lincoln Police Department has assigned six officers to a specialized traffic squad which will direct enforcement efforts in reducing the number of drunken drivers in Lincoln.

The assigned officers are Robert Boyes, Richard Heaton, Robert Schultz, William Larsen, Kenneth Clark and Frank Kirtley.

Larimer, who will head the squad, indicated it would become operational on a limited basis in late August.

New Law Into Effect

Nugent said the State Patrol plans similar efforts then, when Nebraska's new law goes into effect allowing police to use pre-arrest chemical tests for the screening of motorists thought to be driving while intoxicated.

The gas chromatography, costing approximately $2,600, will permit law enforcement officers to obtain a highly accurate test after preliminary screening by a less-expensive breath analyzer kit, according to Nugent.

Most officers will carry a kit for pre-arrest use, bringing suspect cases to headquarters for further examination on the gas chromatograph, according to Nugent.

The screening test is a more sophicated tool that police can use in making field judgments concerning a drunken driving violation, according to Larimer.

He said the test is used for eliminating the possibility of shock, injury, disease or other drugs which can also cause abnormal behavior of the suspected violator.

Nixon Warned Against Illusions About Red China

Washington (UPI) — As President Nixon and his top aides held further briefings Tuesday on his coming visit to Peking, witnesses at a Senate hearing warned him against any dangerous illusions about a mellowing Chinese Communist leadership.

"There has been no public indication whatsoever of a lessening of Peking's present aggressive posture," said Prof. Franz Michael of the George Washington University Sino-Soviet Institute.

Michael told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which began hearings on U.S. policy toward China, that Nixon's planned trip was a "serious and dangerous venture" that might raise false hopes and lead to unfavorable terms in future negotiations.

Tower Testifies

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said, "Rapprochement with Red China at the expense of the Republic of China would be counterproductive" and might "predestine the Nixon Doctrine (of Asia self-defense) to utter failure."

Lee Edwards, secretary of the Committee of One Million Opposed to Communist China's Admission to the United Nations, said "true and meaningful" relations with Peking could not come about until "communism no longer enslaves the Chinese people."

It was "simply not true," said Edwards, that the Chinese have become resigned to Communist rule.

Americans In Prison

George Watt, a British construction engineer who spent four years in a Peking prison on espionage charges to which he confessed "under duress," said in an interview after attending the hearing with Edwards that he hopes Nixon will remember Americans still held prisoner by the Chinese.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, questioned the witnesses only briefly. He has praised Nixon's decision to go to China.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, explaining to foreign diplomats in Washington the purpose of the Nixon trip, met Tuesday with more ambassadors, including south Vietnam's Bui Diem.

Korea, Philippines, Iran

Continuing a series of such conferences that lasted all day Monday, Rogers also met for about half an hour each with Ambassadors Dong Jo Kim of South Korea, Ernesto V. Lagdameo of the Philippines and Ammir-Aslan Afshar of Iran.

At the White House, Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, his chief national security adviser, discussed the trip and its implications with Republican congressional leaders.

As in a larger meeting Monday with both GOP and Democratic leaders, the President and Kissinger stressed that the journey should not be interpreted as a rebuff to either the Soviet Union or Nationalist China.

Committee Seeks To Revoke 'Security' Detention Powers

Washington (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved Tuesday a bill to repeal a section of the 1950 Internal Security Act authorizing the detention of suspected spies and saboteurs in time of war, invasion or insurrection.

The Justice Department recommended repeal in December 1969, and shortly thereafter the bill was passed by the Senate. However, the House took no action.

Now a companion bill has been approved by the House Judiciary Committee and is expected to be acted on soon by the House.

The 1950 act authorized the apprehension and detention of persons if there was reasonable ground to believe they would probably engage in espionage or sabotage.

Although the authority has never been used, sponsors of the repeal measure said rumors have been circulated that the government was preparing detention camps for dissident minority groups.

Russia Affirms Support For China Seat

Moscow — The Soviet government Tuesday affirmed its support for Communist China's admission to the United Nations and its opposition to any international conference on Indochina.

A letter from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to United Nations Secretary General Thant, made public in Izvestia, seemed to indicate that the Vietnamese Communists remained opposed to any Geneva-style effort to negotiate an Indochina settlement.

The Russians in the past have been very careful to coordinate their public statements on Indochina with Hanoi, and it was believed by Western diplomats here that the call for a settlement by the Indochinese themselves without "outside intervention" reflected North Vietnam's position.

Despite repeated efforts to reactivate the Geneva machinery for a new conference, North Vietnam has resolutely opposed any such meeting, preferring to negotiate directly in Paris with the United States. The Russians, as a co-chairman with Britain, of the 1954 Geneva conference in Indochina and the 1962 one on Laos have followed Hanoi's lead in rejecting efforts for a new meeting.

Chou Cites Difficulties

©The New York Times

Peking (AFP) — Premier Chou En-lai said Tuesday normalization of relations between China and the United States could not affect the solidarity between Peking and Communist forces in Indochina, and that the total withdrawal of American troops was for China a matter of the greatest urgency.

Three other problems brought up by Chou as constituting difficulties in the normalization of relations with the United States were Taiwan, "Japanese militarism" and South Korea.

Northeast Y Fund-Raising Marathon Set

Several hundred youths and adults are expected to participate in a multiple event 50-hour marathon fund-raising program for the new Northeast YMCA Friday through Sunday, August 5-8.

Fred R. (Bob) Sikyta, city councilman and northeast business leader, is chairman for the event. Barry Moore, Northeast High School administrator, is personnel chairman.

Sikyta said youths and adults will secure sponsors for their participation in the events. Sponsors will contribute so much for their completion of each unit in their activity. All funds will go toward paying for needed new equipment to complete the new Northeast YMCA facility, or for the community program of the branch.

Events will include cycling, basketball, roller skating, jogging, swimming, ping pong, pool, trampoline, dancing, a "Walk For The Northeast YMCA" and other events.

Humanics Group Will Hear Exon

Kansas City (AP) — Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon will speak at the annual meeting of the American Humanics Foundation Monday, an association spokesman said.

Exon, a Lincoln businessman before winning the governor's race last November, plans to leave Kansas City shortly after the noon luncheon meeting, the spokesman said.

The Russians in the past have been very careful to coordinate their public statements on Indochina with Hanoi, and it was believed by Western diplomats here that the call for a settlement by the Indochinese themselves without "outside intervention" reflected North Vietnam's position.

Despite repeated efforts to reactivate the Geneva machinery for a new conference, North Vietnam has resolutely opposed any such meeting, preferring to negotiate directly in Paris with the United States. The Russians, as a co-chairman with Britain, of the 1954 Geneva conference in Indochina and the 1962 one on Laos have followed Hanoi's lead in rejecting efforts for a new meeting.

Chou Cites Difficulties

©The New York Times

Peking (AFP) — Premier Chou En-lai said Tuesday normalization of relations between China and the United States could not affect the solidarity between Peking and Communist forces in Indochina, and that the total withdrawal of American troops was for China a matter of the greatest urgency.

Three other problems brought up by Chou as constituting difficulties in the normalization of relations with the United States were Taiwan, "Japanese militarism" and South Korea.

Northeast Y Fund-Raising Marathon Set

Several hundred youths and adults are expected to participate in a multiple event 50-hour marathon fund-raising program for the new Northeast YMCA Friday through Sunday, August 5-8.

Fred R. (Bob) Sikyta, city councilman and northeast business leader, is chairman for the event. Barry Moore, Northeast High School administrator, is personnel chairman.

Sikyta said youths and adults will secure sponsors for their participation in the events. Sponsors will contribute so much for their completion of each unit in their activity. All funds will go toward paying for needed new equipment to complete the new Northeast YMCA facility, or for the community program of the branch.

Events will include cycling, basketball, roller skating, jogging, swimming, ping pong, pool, trampoline, dancing, a "Walk For The Northeast YMCA" and other events.

Humanics Group Will Hear Exon

Kansas City (AP) — Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon will speak at the annual meeting of the American Humanics Foundation Monday, an association spokesman said.

Exon, a Lincoln businessman before winning the governor's race last November, plans to leave Kansas City shortly after the noon luncheon meeting, the spokesman said.

Hearnes Wants Rep. Mills To Attend Governors' Meet

. . . FOR REVENUE SHARING DISCUSSION

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

South Sioux City — Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri Tuesday extended a public invitation to Congressman Wilbur Mills to appear before the National Governors' Conference at San Juan later this year to discuss federal revenue sharing proposals.

Hearnes is chairman of the forthcoming conference.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is the man most likely to shape any revenue sharing proposal which clears the Congress.

A number of midwestern governors — including Nebraska's J. James Exon — sharply opposed Mills' own plan which would essentially bypass state governments in favor of the cities.

Exon said he is "unalterably opposed" to the Mills' proposal.

Grossly Inequitable

Gov. Richard Ogilvie of Illinois said it is "grossly inequitable," and Gov. William Guy of North Dakota suggested that it is "very dangerous to the federal system of government."

But Gov. John Gilligan, noting that the plan tends to favor states with a number of large urban centers, said Ohio "thinks quite warmly of the Chairman Mills approach."

Hearnes urged governors to "express strong support" for all the alternatives in the hope of ultimately gaining some combination approach.

Play Percentages

"We should play the percentages," he said. "We cannot afford to do otherwise."

Since the governors often appear before Mills' congressional committee, Hearnes said, it might be wise this time to "let the governors question Mills."

That, he suggested, should lead to "a broader range of understanding.

If he does not hear private objections beforehand, Hearnes said, he will ask the Midwestern Governors Conference Wednesday to approve a formal resolution asking Mills to come to the national conference next September.

From 13 States

Governors from 13 states were on hand Tuesday for a panel discussion on state, federal and local finance problems, one which produced a warning from a number of chief executives about the dangers of citizen referendum decisions on tax and spending matters and a rebuttal from Exon.

A great many constitutionally ordained and necessary programs would not be adequately implemented "if they were left to the popular will," Ogilvie said.

Gilligan said "life and death tax and revenue situations" should not be determined by popular referendum.

Face Danger

Governors who raised taxes without popular consent face political danger, Gov. Edgar Whitcomb of Indiana warned. And, he added, referring to the defeat last fall of Gov. Norbert Tiemann, "the case here in Nebraska is very much in point."

Exon said he is disturbed to find political courage so often equated with "spending more money and adding taxes.

"It also takes some courage to face up to the demands for spending that might not be necessary. Some people work full time dreaming up ways to spend more money."

Not Afraid

If he becomes convinced that additional state revenue is required, Exon said, he "will not be afraid to go to the people of Nebraska for tax increases.

"The people aren't always wrong," he declared.

Three years ago, he told his colleagues, Nebraskans voted down an attempt to eliminate the state income tax even though taxes in Nebraska have climbed at the fourth highest rate among the states since 1958.

Gilligan said citizens should be reminded that the average tax burden in the U.S. is the lowest in any civilized western nation.

Seek Concensus

Gov. Arch Moore of West Virginia urged the governors to reach a general concensus on federal revenue sharing support before Congress uses their divisions as an excuse not to approve any program.

President Nixon's plan is "the best proposal on which to build," Guy suggested.

Big city mayors will "take the money anywhere they can get it," Gilligan noted, even, if necessary, from a Brink's robbery.

Students Play Sensory Perception

"Listen to the pulse beat through your eardrums. Listen for a very quiet sound, the air-conditioning, men at work outside, or someone talking in the next room . . ."

"Feel the bottom part of the inside of your shoes, feel the top part. You're aware for the first time of the top part of your shoes."

So participants in the Nebraska Association of Student Councils Workshop were instructed Tuesday during a day of activities designed to increase sensory awareness. A visitor to the Nebraska Center Audtiorium could find students doing anything from playing with their thumbs to looking for "floating hotdogs" in the air.

"The idea is that student government leaders have to communicate in many ways, by feeling or sensing the tone of the student body and responding. So we're learning sensory perception," explained Duane Hemminger, the Gretna High School teacher who directs the workshop.

Tuesday was a "fun day" for the students, Hemminger said. After several sessions of sensory game-playing, students went on a picnic Tuesday afternoon, returning later for an evening of games, singing and pizza.

Wednesday afternoon, students will quiz a panel of 13 high school principals from across the state on school policies and educational issues. The workshop ends Thursday.

British Robbers Steal $250,000 In Mail Theft

Portsmouth, England (AP) — Robbers ambushed a post office truck Tuesday and escaped with mailbags believed to contain the equivalent of nearly $250,000.

Police said four men, one brandishing a revolver and another a sawed-off shotgun, grabbed the mailbags as they were about to be transferred to the truck from a ferry that had just docked from the Isle of Wight.

Two post office workers were forced into the truck by the robbers, who threw the mailbags into a waiting vehicle and drove off.

Dear Fellow Lincolnite:

For the past several months I have had the pleasure of serving as chairman of the Salvation Army Building Campaign. The Preliminary Gifts Section has exceeded its $150,000 goal and the Special Gifts Section is currently soliciting some 600 business and professional people.

Your financial assistance is urgently needed and requested. Any gift, regardless of size, can be spread over a three to five year period of time. Remember as little as fifty cents a week, spread over a five year period, amounts to $130. You will never miss the small amount each week and the Salvation Army will send you a statement quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

The Lincoln Salvation Army has helped thousands over the years. Now we have an opportunity to help them by providing the funds necessary for a new Citadel. Your dollars do count. Please mail or telephone your gift today. Your name will be permanently recorded in the "Book of Memory".

Thank you,

S. J. Marchese,

QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE CAMPAIGN

1. Q. WHAT IS THE SALVATION ARMY BUILDING CAMPAIGN?
   A. It is the public campaign to raise the community's share of the total cost for a new Citadel.
2. Q. WHY IS THIS PROGRAM AN URGENT COMMUNITY NEED?
   A. It is an urgent need because today's increasing social and welfare problems have seriously affected the Army's present facilities. The Citadel and Welfare Office erected in 1938, is extremely limited in the service it can perform because of the lack of space.
   Then, too, the passage of time has left the Citadel far removed geographically from the vast majority of people needing the Army's service.
   In addition, the property surrounding the Citadel is owned by the University of Nebraska and is needed to meet their expansion program.
3. Q. HOW WILL THE CAMPAIGN PROVIDE THAT NEED?
   A. A successful campaign will enable the Army to build a new Citadel and Welfare Office which will adjoin the existing Community Center on North 27th Street. The structure will be a two-level building containing approximately 10,000 square feet. It will house a library, conference rooms, administrative offices, reception rooms, club rooms, a dining area, an auditorium and a lounge for senior citizens.
4. Q. WHY SHOULD I BE INTERESTED?
   A. Besides the obvious acts of kindness performed by the Salvation Army, several other factors make the building of a new Citadel important for the future of Lincoln.
      A. It will provide those less fortunate with facilites here-to-fore unoffered.
      B. Because of voluntary giving, the new building will be erected without the burden of tax dollars.
5. Q. WHAT IS THE ESTIMATED COST?
   A. Architects, engineers and consultants estimate the total cost at $412,000.
6. Q. HOW WILL THE $412,000 BE RAISED?
   A. Through the sale of present properties plus gifts over the years. Present resources should produce $112,000 leaving $300,000 to be raised from the community. The "key" step, then, is the public campaign for $300,000 since anything less would necessitate long-term, high-interest indebtedness.
7. Q. DOES THIS FINANCING PLAN HAVE BROAD COMMUNITY APPROVAL?
   A. Yes. In fact, the total program has been approved, endorsed and sponsored by a cross-section of community leadership, including clergymen of all faiths, public officials, business and professional people and the community chest.
8. Q. WHO WILL BE ASKED TO GIVE?
   A. Every income-receiving person, businesses and industries in the greater Lincoln area will be given the opportunity to contribute to this most important community project. Businesses and professional people will be called on personally by representatives of the Special Gifts Section. Unfortunately, it would take a soliciting force of several thousand people to see each family in Lincoln. May we, therefore, suggest that individuals not contacted through Special Gifts, fill out and mail or bring to the campaign office, the pledge coupon attached to the bottom of this ad. All donors will receive special recognition at the end of the campaign.
9. Q. WHAT IS THE CONSTRUCTION SCHEDULE?
   A. It is hoped that construction of the new Citadel will begin in late Summer or early Fall.
10. Q. WHAT IF I CAN'T MAKE A LARGE CASH GIFT NOW?
    A. Budgeted giving is not only suggested, but greatly encouraged. We can't raise $300,000 in out-of-pocket cash. Therefore, donors have the option of spreading their gift over a period of five years.
11. Q. ARE GIFTS TAX DEDUCTIBLE?
    A. Yes. The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that contributions are completely deductible by both individuals and corporations. For individuals, up to 30% of the gross income is tax deductible in any single tax year. For corporations, contributons are deductible up to 5% of their net taxable income. Both individuals and corporations have the five-year carry-over privilege.
12. Q. CAN GIFTS BE MADE IN PROPERTY OR SECURITIES?
    A. Yes. Substantial tax savings can be realized through gift of appreciated property such as securities, land, buildings, etc., if these are transferred directly to the Lincoln Salvation Army. Through this method, the donor not only obtains a full charitable deduction for the fair market value of the transferred asset, but he avoids paying capital gains tax.
    The campaign office will be happy to work with you or your tax advisor to achieve the greatest tax advantage.
13. Q. ARE MEMORIAL OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE IN THE NEW CITADEL?
    A. Yes. Many opportunities to perpetuate the name of a loved one, an organization, business or family are available in the building campaign. A living memorial will be a constant reminder and symbol of the donor's participation and his concern.
14. Q. WHERE CAN I OBTAIN ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE SALVATION ARMY BUILDING CAMPAIGN?
    A. The campaign office is located at 433 South 13th Street. The telephone number is 432-8538. The office welcomes your visits or inquiries.

Hearnes Wants Rep. Mills To Attend Governors' Meet

. . . FOR REVENUE SHARING DISCUSSION

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

South Sioux City — Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri Tuesday extended a public invitation to Congressman Wilbur Mills to appear before the National Governors' Conference at San Juan later this year to discuss federal revenue sharing proposals.

Hearnes is chairman of the forthcoming conference.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is the man most likely to shape any revenue sharing proposal which clears the Congress.

A number of midwestern governors — including Nebraska's J. James Exon — sharply opposed Mills' own plan which would essentially bypass state governments in favor of the cities.

Exon said he is "unalterably opposed" to the Mills' proposal.

Grossly Inequitable

Gov. Richard Ogilvie of Illinois said it is "grossly inequitable," and Gov. William Guy of North Dakota suggested that it is "very dangerous to the federal system of government."

But Gov. John Gilligan, noting that the plan tends to favor states with a number of large urban centers, said Ohio "thinks quite warmly of the Chairman Mills approach."

Hearnes urged governors to "express strong support" for all the alternatives in the hope of ultimately gaining some combination approach.

Play Percentages

"We should play the percentages," he said. "We cannot afford to do otherwise."

Since the governors often appear before Mills' congressional committee, Hearnes said, it might be wise this time to "let the governors question Mills."

That, he suggested, should lead to "a broader range of understanding.

If he does not hear private objections beforehand, Hearnes said, he will ask the Midwestern Governors Conference Wednesday to approve a formal resolution asking Mills to come to the national conference next September.

County Delays Setting Public Hearing On Budget

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

County Commissioners Tuesday completed hearings with elected officials and department heads on budget requests but have not set a date for public hearing on the proposed 1971-72 fiscal year budget for the county.

After some discussion on the inconsistencies in the law in connection with setting the budget hearing, the commissioners did not decide definitely whether it would be set the fourth Wednesday of July as the law provides in one place or whether it would be delayed until as late as the 15th of August.

County Attorney Paul Douglas said that one section of the law clearly provides for hearing on the fourth Wednesday of July but certain other provisions of the law and regulations handed down by the State Auditor provide for public hearing on or before Aug. 15.

He said his original suggestion to the commissioners was to hold the hearing on the last Wednesday of July and then be in compliance with all statutes and regulations to avoid any possible legal difficulties.

However, he said, it was the board's decision, and County Clerk Carl Hartman and the commissioners had indicated they couldn't have the budget completed in time to advertise by Friday which would be necessary to meet the legal requirement of five days' advertisement before public hearing.

Hartman said he still had a lot of work to do and that as long as the state says the hearing can be held up until Aug. 15 he saw no reason for holding it the fourth Wednesday.

Commissioner William Grossman took issue with Hartman stating that Hartman was "gambling" by doing it that way in that there could be some legal repercussions.

Hartman, who stated he was merely doing the mechanical work of the budget for the board which is the budget-making body, said, "I sometimes think we're not getting much cooperation from the board."

After it was pointed out that if the board wished to make any alterations after it was published prior to the hearing, a further publication would be necessary on any changes, Grossman conceded that if a republication would be necessary, then there might be some merit in delaying the public hearing until after the fourth Wednesday.

Pools Bought To Double As Hydrants

Canby, Ore. (AP) — Everybody out of the pool! Here comes the Fire Department!

The Canby Rural Fire District is buying and installing swimming pools throughout the district, specifically to serve as water sources in rural areas.

Bob Westcott, a volunteer fireman, came up with the idea as the department looked for ways to obtain water sources to assure a favorable rating from the Oregon Insurance Rating Agency.

Said Westcott: "The swimming pools would act like hydrants throughout the district."

The pools cost $200 each in kit form and will be installed by volunteer firemen, saving the $300 installation fee.

The pools are 24 feet wide, 48 inches high and hold 13,500 gallons. Under the department's plan, private owners would contract to keep the pool full and free of debris year round, and the Fire Department would have access at all times.

The private owner would also assume liability for the pool and purchase hardware and maintenance equipment.

Westcott said the owner acquires a $700 value for a $200 investment.

Morse May Run

Eugene, Ore. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon said he may run for the Senate in 1972.

Manor Intensive Care Patient Costs Exceed Outside Placement Charges

Lancaster County can place its indigent nursing home patients requiring intensive care in other facilities cheaper than they can utilize Lancaster Manor for intensive care, it was learned Tuesday.

During further budget hearings on Lancaster Manor with Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert and Rex Earl of Colonial Homes which operates Lancaster Manor for the county, it was noted that it is less expensive to send these people out of town than to provide intensive care at Lancaster Manor.

The commissioners indicated that they had intended to provide intensive care at Lancaster Manor when they purchased the former St. Elizabeth Hospital complex.

Earl said that it merely depends on what the county wants to spend since intensive care for Lancaster Manor will require 4-2 registered nurses for the required round-the-clock nursing care required under state and federal regulations for intensive care.

Earl and Trabert both indicated that the county would continue to lose money on such a plan since the maximum payment for intensive care is $350, while the cost is $18 per day or $540 per month.

They also pointed out that it is difficult to get nursing homes to take county patients who require maximum care and this is the reason for placing so many outside the county.

Earl and Trabert both indicated that nothing can be done to change the present situation until the Legislature sees fit to appropriate more money for nursing home reimbursement.

"The best thing that people could do is get the rates up where they belong so the homes could afford to take these people and give them the care they need," Earl said.

Charles Dalrymple, director of Lincoln City Libraries, and Jack Hart, president of the library board, appeared before the board seeking $55,362 in county funds for rural users of the city library.

They noted that library service for all residents of the county is provided on an equal basis.

The figure, they explained, is based on a per capita basis with the total cost being divided by the total population.

Fifty-eight per cent is to be raised by property taxes or $508,117.64, which when divided by the total population of $167,972 brings the per capita cost to $3.01.

According to Dalrymple, this amount multiplied by the county population of 18,454 results in the $55,362 figure.

Regional Center Use Eyed For Treating Some Indigents

Lancaster County Commissioners, sitting as a board of welfare, indicated Tuesday they would probably place indigent persons needing treatment for alcoholism and drugs in the Lincoln Regional Center rather than in the new Chemical Dependency Treatment Center of Lincoln General Hospital.

They noted that the Lincoln Regional Center does treat these people and they can see no reason for paying the substantially higher rates at Lincoln General, which has established the treatment center in the former County Convalescent Unit.

According to the commissioners and Health Director Dr. George Underwood, the costs at Lincoln General of $37.50 per day would not include any medication or further services.

Dr. Underwood said that there would be an additional fee of about $20 for each time the individuals are given therapy at the main hospital unit.

Commissioner William Grossman said that the Lincoln Regional Center costs are $15 per day for the first 30 days and $3 per day for each day thereafter.

Texas Paper Is Relieved Of Debt

Washington (AP) — The House agreed Tuesday to relieve the owner of a small Texas newspaper of a $746 debt for overdue postage.

It said Mary James Kates did not intend to defraud when she mailed her Gladewater Daily Mirror at third class rather than second class.

In fact, the House found, she got bad advice from the Post Office at the regional office in Dallas and shouldn't have to pay for the loss incurred before it discovered its mistake.

Dobson's Awarded Contract

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday awarded a contract to Dobson Bros. for hardsurfacing two and eight-tenths of a mile from Rokeby to the Denton Road.

Dobson's low bid was $128,718.91, while the only other bid submitted was that of Stewart with a bid of $130,874.35.

The board laso referred to the county attorney, engineer and city-county planning director the proposed numbering system for Lancaster County roads submitted by Engineer Walter Hoppe.

Hoppe said that the 1969 law provides that the counties must have a numbering system for county roads by Aug. 4 of this year. However, a question rose as to whether the roads must have a numerical classification or merely an identification classification and how such a system would be coordinated throughout the state with other counties.

County Delays Setting Public Hearing On Budget

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

County Commissioners Tuesday completed hearings with elected officials and department heads on budget requests but have not set a date for public hearing on the proposed 1971-72 fiscal year budget for the county.

After some discussion on the inconsistencies in the law in connection with setting the budget hearing, the commissioners did not decide definitely whether it would be set the fourth Wednesday of July as the law provides in one place or whether it would be delayed until as late as the 15th of August.

County Attorney Paul Douglas said that one section of the law clearly provides for hearing on the fourth Wednesday of July but certain other provisions of the law and regulations handed down by the State Auditor provide for public hearing on or before Aug. 15.

He said his original suggestion to the commissioners was to hold the hearing on the last Wednesday of July and then be in compliance with all statutes and regulations to avoid any possible legal difficulties.

However, he said, it was the board's decision, and County Clerk Carl Hartman and the commissioners had indicated they couldn't have the budget completed in time to advertise by Friday which would be necessary to meet the legal requirement of five days' advertisement before public hearing.

Hartman said he still had a lot of work to do and that as long as the state says the hearing can be held up until Aug. 15 he saw no reason for holding it the fourth Wednesday.

Commissioner William Grossman took issue with Hartman stating that Hartman was "gambling" by doing it that way in that there could be some legal repercussions.

Hartman, who stated he was merely doing the mechanical work of the budget for the board which is the budget-making body, said, "I sometimes think we're not getting much cooperation from the board."

After it was pointed out that if the board wished to make any alterations after it was published prior to the hearing, a further publication would be necessary on any changes, Grossman conceded that if a republication would be necessary, then there might be some merit in delaying the public hearing until after the fourth Wednesday.

Pools Bought To Double As Hydrants

Canby, Ore. (AP) — Everybody out of the pool! Here comes the Fire Department!

The Canby Rural Fire District is buying and installing swimming pools throughout the district, specifically to serve as water sources in rural areas.

Bob Westcott, a volunteer fireman, came up with the idea as the department looked for ways to obtain water sources to assure a favorable rating from the Oregon Insurance Rating Agency.

Said Westcott: "The swimming pools would act like hydrants throughout the district."

The pools cost $200 each in kit form and will be installed by volunteer firemen, saving the $300 installation fee.

The pools are 24 feet wide, 48 inches high and hold 13,500 gallons. Under the department's plan, private owners would contract to keep the pool full and free of debris year round, and the Fire Department would have access at all times.

The private owner would also assume liability for the pool and purchase hardware and maintenance equipment.

Westcott said the owner acquires a $700 value for a $200 investment.

Manor Intensive Care Patient Costs Exceed Outside Placement Charges

Lancaster County can place its indigent nursing home patients requiring intensive care in other facilities cheaper than they can utilize Lancaster Manor for intensive care, it was learned Tuesday

During further budget hearings on Lancaster Manor with Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert and Rex Earl of Colonial Homes which operates Lancaster Manor for the county, it was noted that it is less expensive to send these people out of town than to provide intensive care at Lancaster Manor.

The commissioners indicated that they had intended to provide intensive care at Lancaster Manor when they purchased the former St Elizabeth Hospital complex

Earl said that it merely depends on what the county wants to spend since intensive care for Lancaster Manor will require 4-2 registered nurses for the required round-the-clock nursing care required under state and federal regulations for intensive care

Earl and Trabert both indicated that the county would continue to lose money on such a plan since the maximum payment for intensive care is $350, while the cost is $18 per day or $540 per month.

They also pointed out that it is difficult to get nursing homes to take county patients who require maximum care and this is the reason for placing so many outside the county

"The best thing that people could do is get the rates up where they belong so the homes could afford to take these people and give them the care they need," Earl said.

Ceremony Solemnized On Tuesday

On Tuesday evening, July 20, the wedding of Miss Cathy Ann Boynton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth J. Boynton, and Marvin Baldwin Jaques, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jaques, took place at Southminster United Methodist Church. The 7 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Merrill Willis.

Alike, floor-length frocks of lavender shantung were worn by the attendants, including matron of honor Mrs. Michael Boynten; Mrs. Kip Hendrickson and Mrs. Kent Jespersen, the bridesmatrons; and bridesmaid Miss Debra Jaques.

Roger Jaques served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Kip Hendrickson, Kent Jespersen, Michael Boynton, Bill Wagner and Richard Clarence.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza designed in the Empire mode. Imported French Beauvais embroidery accented the gown front, and the mandarin collar was fashioned of Venise lace which was repeated on the cuffs of the sheer Bishop sleeves. The lace bordered the cathedral-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of roses.

Following a honeymoon trip to Vail, Colo., Mr. Jaques and his bride will reside at 7231 Kearney, in Lincoln.

The bride is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Jaques also is a senior at the University of Nebraska where he is majoring in mechanical engineering.

Party Compliments Bride-Elect

Whenever there is a bride on the scene it goes without saying that she takes the spotlight, and that spotlight isn't limited to that red circle around a certain date on her calendar. That red-letter date, to be sure, is her wedding day, but long before that there is a flurry of courtesies.

The particular bride-elect we have in mind this morning is Miss Rhonda Rae Stemm who is busy planning a wedding which will take place on Saturday, July 31. And just in case you hadn't heard, the bridegroom-to-be is John Becker.

Miss Stemm was the guest of honor on Tuesday when Mrs. George G. Swingle complimented her with a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

AROUND T OWN

We have just one problem this morning and it involves a question — Where do we start? There is news of a 'hello' party, and we could begin with that — But then there is that 'farewell' party we want to talk about, or we could tell you about a young queen who is very well known in Lincoln—

There is more to be considered before making a decision — How about the young bride and bridegroom who now are residing in Turkey?

* * *

Our 'hello' party was an informal affair for which Mrs. Robert Sherwood and Mrs. Michael Lawlor were hostesses last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Sherwood when they entertained in courtesy to Mrs. James Rice of Seattle, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Rice and their daughter, Jamie, left on Monday to return to their home following a several days stay in Lincoln as the house guests of Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lilly who, by the way, entertained at a dinner party on Friday evening in honor of the visitors.

The guest list at the 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock 'ice tea' party included long-time high school and college friends of Mrs. Rice who, in case you may not remember, is the former Ting Lilly—Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska.

* * *

That farewell party we mentioned is an evening party but it has to do with 'Early Birds.'

It seems that among the group of men from the First-Plymouth Congregational Church who are up before the cock crows each Wednesday morning and then are off and away to an early breakfast and a meeting, are Dr. Richard Guilford who has been the Director of the Social Work Graduate School at the University of Nebraska, and James Shelley.

It also seems that Dr. and Mrs. Guilford will be leaving soon for Minneapolis, Minn., where Dr. Guilford will be a member of the University of Minnesota faculty.

And son — Mr. and Mrs. Shelley will be a host and hostess at their home on Saturday evening when they entertain the 'Early Birds' and their wives at a picnic supper in farewell courtesy to Dr. and Mrs. Guilford.

* * *

So much for 'hello' and 'goodbye.' Right now we want to do some talking about a queen. Her 'Highness' is Miss Lyle Wieland who is just 12 years old and who has been attending her very first summer camp at Camp Lake Hubert in Minnesota. Apparently the camp freshman is exceedingly popular with her camp mates. They recently elected her Queen of Camp Lake Hubert.

The young lady, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lebsock of Northfield, Ill., and Dr. Richard Wieland of Lincoln, will be coming to Lincoln next month for a visit with members of her family which also includes Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland and Dr. and Mrs. Milton C. Wieland.

* * *

Life in a foreign country can be quite a change when compared to former campus life at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln . . . especially when that foreign country happens to be Turkey, which is squeezed in between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean Sea and is setting right next to the U.S.S.R..

The former Nebraskans who are spending their time in Turkey are newlyweds Dr. and Mrs. Gary Morton (their wedding took place on June 12). Dr. Morton, you see, is a captain in the United States Air Force and is serving in the USAF dental corps. Mrs. Morton, the former Anita Druliner, attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Dr. Morton received his doctorate degree in June from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Ceremony Solemnized On Tuesday

On Tuesday evening, July 20, the wedding of Miss Cathy Ann Boynton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth J. Boynton, and Marvin Baldwin Jaques, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jaques, took place at Southminster United Methodist Church. The 7 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Merrill Willis.

Alike, floor-length frocks of lavender shantung were worn by the attendants, including matron of honor Mrs. Michael Boynten; Mrs. Kip Hendrickson and Mrs. Kent Jespersen, the bridesmatrons; and bridesmaid Miss Debra Jaques.

Roger Jaques served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Kip Hendrickson, Kent Jespersen, Michael Boynton, Bill Wagner and Richard Clarence.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza designed in the Empire mode. Imported French Beauvais embroidery accented the gown front, and the mandarin collar was fashioned of Venise lace which was repeated on the cuffs of the sheer Bishop sleeves. The lace bordered the cathedral-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of roses.

Following a honeymoon trip to Vail, Colo., Mr. Jaques and his bride will reside at 7231 Kearney, in Lincoln.

The bride is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Jaques also is a senior at the University of Nebraska where he is majoring in mechanical engineering.

Party Compliments Bride-Elect

Whenever there is a bride on the scene it goes without saying that she takes the spotlight, and that spotlight isn't limited to that red circle around a certain date on her calendar. That red-letter date, to be sure, is her wedding day, but long before that there is a flurry of courtesies.

The particular bride-elect we have in mind this morning is Miss Rhonda Rae Stemm who is busy planning a wedding which will take place on Saturday, July 31. And just in case you hadn't heard, the bridegroom-to-be is John Becker.

Miss Stemm was the guest of honor on Tuesday when Mrs. George G. Swingle complimented her with a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

AROUND T OWN

We have just one problem this morning and it involves a question — Where do we start? There is news of a 'hello' party, and we could begin with that — But then there is that 'farewell' party we want to talk about, or we could tell you about a young queen who is very well known in Lincoln—

There is more to be considered before making a decision — How about the young bride and bridegroom who now are residing in Turkey?

* * *

Our 'hello' party was an informal affair for which Mrs. Robert Sherwood and Mrs. Michael Lawlor were hostesses last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Sherwood when they entertained in courtesy to Mrs. James Rice of Seattle, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Rice and their daughter, Jamie, left on Monday to return to their home following a several days stay in Lincoln as the house guests of Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lilly who, by the way, entertained at a dinner party on Friday evening in honor of the visitors.

The guest list at the 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock 'ice tea' party included long-time high school and college friends of Mrs. Rice who, in case you may not remember, is the former Ting Lilly—Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska.

* * *

That farewell party we mentioned is an evening party but it has to do with 'Early Birds.'

It seems that among the group of men from the First-Plymouth Congregational Church who are up before the cock crows each Wednesday morning and then are off and away to an early breakfast and a meeting, are Dr. Richard Guilford who has been the Director of the Social Work Graduate School at the University of Nebraska, and James Shelley.

It also seems that Dr. and Mrs. Guilford will be leaving soon for Minneapolis, Minn., where Dr. Guilford will be a member of the University of Minnesota faculty.

And son — Mr. and Mrs. Shelley will be a host and hostess at their home on Saturday evening when they entertain the 'Early Birds' and their wives at a picnic supper in farewell courtesy to Dr. and Mrs. Guilford.

* * *

So much for 'hello' and 'goodbye.' Right now we want to do some talking about a queen. Her 'Highness' is Miss Lyle Wieland who is just 12 years old and who has been attending her very first summer camp at Camp Lake Hubert in Minnesota. Apparently the camp freshman is exceedingly popular with her camp mates. They recently elected her Queen of Camp Lake Hubert.

The young lady, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lebsock of Northfield, Ill., and Dr. Richard Wieland of Lincoln, will be coming to Lincoln next month for a visit with members of her family which also includes Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland and Dr. and Mrs. Milton C. Wieland.

* * *

Life in a foreign country can be quite a change when compared to former campus life at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln . . . especially when that foreign country happens to be Turkey, which is squeezed in between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean Sea and is setting right next to the U.S.S.R..

The former Nebraskans who are spending their time in Turkey are newlyweds Dr. and Mrs. Gary Morton (their wedding took place on June 12). Dr. Morton, you see, is a captain in the United States Air Force and is serving in the USAF dental corps. Mrs. Morton, the former Anita Druliner, attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Dr. Morton received his doctorate degree in June from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Jasper flowerpots were made by the 18th century. This three color pot is dark blue, white and chartreuse. It was made by the English Wedgwood factory.
(Buten Museum of Wedgwood, Merion, Pa. 19066)

By RALPH
AND TERRY KOVEL

A flowerpot from the 18th century was a piece of fine pottery and porcelain made for use in the home. To a collector or 18th century homeowner, the term flowerpot meant the indoor variety. Wedgwood made many types of pots which held bulbs and plants. The bulb plant had a special tip that permitted the leaves to grow through a hole while the bulb had space below.

The typical flowerpot shape of today was also made. It was usually called a cachepot.

There were many unusual jasper pots. One rare diced three-color jasper pot was made about 1800. The white body of the pot was dipped into blue. When it was as hard as cheese, the pot was taken to a lathe and part of the blue was scraped away in the checkered pattern. Chartreuse designs were then applied by hand. The now three-color vase was fired.

Q. How old are furniture castors?

A. Wheels help to make heavy furniture easier to move. The first record we have seen was in a 15th century picture that showed a truckle bed. This small bed on wheels was kept under the big bed and was rolled out at night.

The word "castor" came into use in England during the 18th century. Wooden wheels on swivels were placed on large furniture at the beginning of the 18th century. Leather rollers were soon held on the legs with horn or brass fittings. The leather went out of style by 1770 and all brass castors were used. Furniture styles were massive and the castors were small enough to be almost unseen under the foot of a chair or bed. Many types of castors were in use by the 1800s. Sheraton designed furniture to include a decorative and easily seen brass castor at the base of the table leg. The cup type castor top was developed to keep a thin light weight leg from splitting.

Before this time, the castor was screwed to the bottom of the leg. Empire styles featuring a large claw shaped castor was part of the decoration. Victorian furniture had large brass castors and small porcelain wheels in white or black. The most recent castors have a special type neck that inserts into a leg and adjusts to make it easier to level the legs.

Q. I have a lovely glass painting with a beautiful landscape and a sweet little country church. The backing is so old it crumbles. The paint has peeled in some spots. The frame is very dry and pieces splinter off when it is handled. What should I do? It definitely needs new backing. Help!

A. The frame can be fixed easily. Apply boiled linseed oil to the back where the wood is unfinished. It will soak in and keep the wood from further breaking.

The peeling paint on the reverse side of the glass painting is much more difficult. Only a skilled restorer should fix this type of picture. Do not even remove the backing as the paint will deteriorate more quickly and your picture will be ruined. Temporarily tape over the old backing to keep air from the paint. If you can find an artist who has worked with reverse paintings you might be able to have a full restoration done.

A Goodie

Many fine old-fashioned foods are slighted because modern homemakers assume they are hard to make. Nothing is more delicious than a pot of homemade baked beans fragrant with old-fashioned molasses flavor, accompanied by brown bread. A modern quick way to make this baked bean accompaniment has been worked out. It's Applesauce Brown Bread and it's good even all by itself — and easy. No steaming required. Just bake it, cut it in squares! It's delectable. Old-Fashioned Molasses adds the authentic flavor and natural sweetening.

APPLESAUCE BROWN BREAD

2 cups wholewheat flour
1 cup cornmeal
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup Old-Fashioned Molasses
¾ cup canned applesauce
¾ cup raisins

Combine dry ingredients in large mixing bowl. Add buttermilk and molasses and beat at medium speed until smooth. Mixture will be thick. Fold in applesauce and raisins. Turn into greased 9-inch square baking pan and bake in 350 degrees F. oven 35 minutes. Cool 10 minutes in pan, then remove from pan and cool on wire rack. Cut into squares.

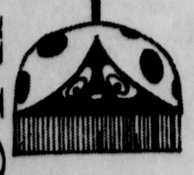

YIELD: 16 squares.

The Small Family Best For Child

What size of family is best for a child? Contrary to what many Americans believe, mounting evidence indicates that children do best in small families, . . . and, large families may actually be harmful.

According to Zero Population Growth spokesman John McClendon, reports from the National Institute of Mental Health and Dr. David H. Martin, a Tennessee psychologist, indicate that "only" children and children from small families tend to be more creative, self-reliant, more intelligent, make more of a success of marriage, and are better thought of by their associates. They tend to have more initiative and self-control, and are more dependable, courteous, and cooperative. A British scientist found that as families grew larger, the average height and weight for each child decreased.

Famous individuals who were "only" children include 3 of America's astronauts, as well as Albert Einstein, Charles Lindberg, Robert Louis Stevenson, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. More than half of the winners in the annual Westinghouse Talent Search for high school students have been "only" children. On the other hand, about 70% of the military draftees rejected on tests for mental ability come from families of 4 or more children.

Small families are not only good for the children — they are also good for the parents. Studies in both England and in the United States report that parents of small families are less likely to end up in a mental institution, and more likely to have happy marriages. Surveys indicate that most people who grew up in a large family do not want the same for their children. More than two-thirds of such parents surveyed reported that they plan to have a small family.

Traditionally Americans have had as many children as they could afford. Psychologists emphasize, however, that the psychological benefits of small families apply to the rich and the middle-class, as well as to the poor. Studies show that within the same income bracket, children from small families consistently outscore those from large families.

The view that "big families are good for children" is on the way out. Psychologists are realizing that one of the best things a parent can do for a child is to rear him in a small family.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The so-called fancy play normally occurs only once in a blue moon, but there are times when a declarer is forced to rely on a play that might well be termed fancy.

For example, consider this deal where South is in four hearts and West starts with the A-K-J of clubs. Declarer ruffs and would score ten tricks quite easily with a normal 3-2 trump division. But when he leads the A-K of hearts, East shows out and South is faced with a very difficult problem.

If he continues to draw trumps, he will be unable to score the jack of diamonds as his tenth trick, while if he abandons further trump leads in order to first try to clear the diamonds by leading the A-K-Q, he subjects himself to a likely ruff by West.

Granted these conditions, South can accomplish his mission only by making a highly unusual but nevertheless sensible play. Since West passed originally and has shown up with the A-K-J-10-9 of clubs, he cannot be expected to have the king of spades also.

Accordingly, South draws West's two remaining trumps by leading the Q-J from his hand, following suit from dummy on the queen by discarding the ace of spades from dummy on the jack!

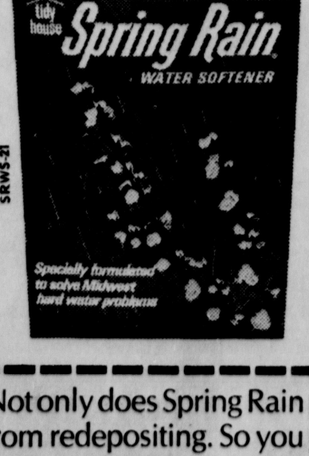

This extraordinary play works like a charm when declarer then proceeds to cash the A-K-Q of diamonds and lead the nine of spades. Regardless of which three cards East has left in his hand at this stage, South is sure to score two of the remaining tricks with his Q-2 of spades and jack of diamonds.

Fancy, of course, but who'd ever want to quarrel with such a sensationally successful play?

ABBY:

and now he, too, has had his say in print

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That anecdote you printed about the hippie couple taking advantage of government services and then protesting the establishment made a good point, but was somewhat inaccurate. I hope you give equal time to the other side.

In 10 weeks I'll receive a Master of Science Degree, and I never could have made it without free clinics, government loans, a grant, and food stamps. I am grateful to the government for these services but cannot condone all the government does. That same government allows the right to free speech, assembly, and the right to dress the way I choose. Some people think anyone who wears Indian love beads and sandals is against the country. It just isn't so!

The youth movement has a violent minority (who, of course, are the ones we hear about on the news) that I can't agree with, just as the establishment has some narrow-minded citizens who would like to see all long-haired bearded youths in jail or worse.

The real issue at stake involves so much more. (I've never seen a demonstration against the establishment; but lots for peace, women's rights, ecology.)

If only the young could benefit from the mistakes of their elders, and the old could listen to the fresh ideas of the young! How can we ever work together for peace, the environment, etc., when people like you pit one side against the other by printing that story?

"UNDER 25" IN LOMA LINDA

DEAR "UNDER 25": It is not my intention to "pit" one side against the other, but the same freedom of speech which made it possible for "Over 30" to be heard, now makes it possible for you to be heard. Fair enough?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for recommending "A Doctor Speaks Out on Sexual Expression in Marriage" by Donald W. Hastings. Only by the grace of God did my wife and I manage to remain faithful to each other for 30 years. Our most intimate moments were marred because of my extreme insensitivity, and my beloved wife's shyness. In short, we were both extremely ignorant about sexual expression in marriage. Thanks to this excellent little book, we are finding life more beautiful every day.

Coffee Plans

The members of Chapter K, PEO, will gather at Pilgrim Congregational Church on Thursday morning, July 22, for a summer meeting and coffee.

Hostesses for the 10 o'clock event will be Mrs. Ronald Becker and Mrs. Forrest Estes.

The program will include a convention report to be presented by Mrs. Estes.

Callers Party

The Square Dancers seem to be a little quieter than usual these days — but there still is activity.

Next Saturday evening, for instance the Callers (for square dances, naturally) are sponsoring a summer dance which will be held at Antelope Park Pavillion. Dancing hours are from 9 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock.

And on that same evening the Hi-flyers will be out and about — and dancing at the IOOF Hall. This event begins at 8 o'clock.

ABBY:

and now he, too, has had his say in print

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That anecdote you printed about the hippie couple taking advantage of government services and then protesting the establishment made a good point, but was somewhat inaccurate. I hope you give equal time to the other side.

In 10 weeks I'll receive a Master of Science Degree, and I never could have made it without free clinics, government loans, a grant, and food stamps. I am grateful to the government for these services but cannot condone all the government does. That same government allows the right to free speech, assembly, and the right to dress the way I choose. Some people think anyone who wears Indian love beads and sandals is against the country. It just isn't so!

The youth movement has a violent minority (who, of course, are the ones we hear about on the news) that I can't agree with, just as the establishment has some narrow-minded citizens who would like to see all long-haired bearded youths in jail or worse.

The real issue at stake involves so much more. (I've never seen a demonstration against the establishment; but lots for peace, women's rights, ecology.)

If only the young could benefit from the mistakes of their elders, and the old could listen to the fresh ideas of the young! How can we ever work together for peace, the environment, etc., when people like you pit one side against the other by printing that story?

"UNDER 25" IN LOMA LINDA

DEAR "UNDER 25": It is not my intention to "pit" one side against the other, but the same freedom of speech which made it possible for "Over 30" to be heard, now makes it possible for you to be heard. Fair enough?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for recommending "A Doctor Speaks Out on Sexual Expression in Marriage" by Donald W. Hastings. Only by the grace of God did my wife and I manage to remain faithful to each other for 30 years. Our most intimate moments were marred because of my extreme insensitivity, and my beloved wife's shyness. In short, we were both extremely ignorant about sexual expression in marriage. Thanks to this excellent little book, we are finding life more beautiful every day.

New Suburban Coalition Proposal To Focus On Suburbs' Problems

©The New York Times

Milwaukee — A national suburban coalition designed to attract more attention to the problems of the suburbs was proposed to the county executives of many of the nation's urban and suburban counties.

ASSAU (N.Y.) County executive Ralph G. Caso, in a 25-page document prepared over the past two months, presented his proposal to county executives gathered here for the annual convention of the National Association of Counties.

A major projected shift of national congressional strength from the rural and urban areas to the suburbs on the basis of the 1970 census, he said, compelled the county leaders to ban together as a counterweight to the legislative action committee of the United States Conference of Mayors, headed by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

The congressional projection, apparently the first of its kind in the nation, was based on 1970 census data and compiled by members of Caso's staff in Mineola, N.Y.

It showed that in the 1972 congressional elections, suburban areas will account for 165 seats in the House of Representatives, a gain of 21 over the present total, with the cities dropping from 148 to 136 seats and rural from 143 to 134.

'Balance Of Power'

"The balance of political power and influence should continue to shift to those political leaders who articulate and strive to maintain the suburban way of life an increasing number of national voters have chosen," Caso's report stated.

"Unfortunately, from a suburban point of view, many pieces of federal legislation still appear to concentrate on resolving problems which affect the suburbs by exclusively directing federal attention and aid to either those rural or urban parts of the problem area."

The solution, Caso concluded, was the formation of a "suburban action team," representing the elected county executives of many of the major suburban areas.

"I think it high time that the counties of this country get together on a united front to press for our own needs in Washington," Caso told newsmen. "We just can't sit back and let the cities walk all over us."

6 Major Areas

Caso listed six major areas in which the suburban action team might take immediate action and make immediate suggestions:

—"The national order of domestic priorities."

—"The comparative advantages of revenue-sharing vs. the federal assumption of welfare costs, etc."

—"The effect of Rep. (Wilbur) Mills's position on the issue of general revenue-sharing."

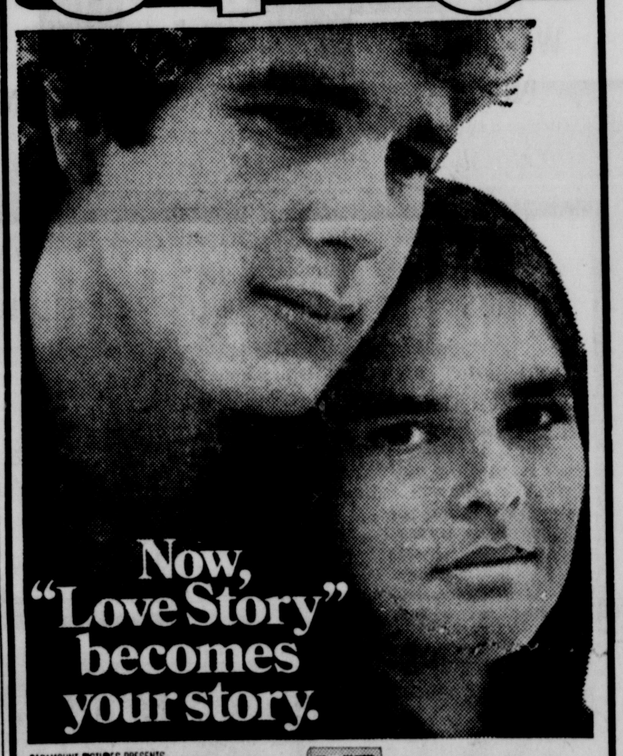

—"The effect of foreign-made SST's in terms of noise pollution in major suburban areas."

—"The 'wetport' concept of building off-shore airports in oceans and lakes."

—"The value-added tax as a potential major source of revenue."

He said that new legislative proposals benefiting the suburbs might also be made in the fields of health maintenance, housing and development assistance, public transportation, welfare federalization, education, pollution control and law enforcement, although he did not spell out any specific pieces of legislation he envisioned.

Members of the legislative action committee of the United States conference of mayors were arriving here Monday night for a one-day visit. Tuesday morning, 16 of the 17 big-city mayors on the committee will meet over breakfast with representatives of the National Association of Counties which is holding its annual convention here.

New Suburban Coalition Proposal To Focus On Suburbs' Problems

©The New York Times

Milwaukee — A national suburban coalition designed to attract more attention to the problems of the suburbs was proposed to the county executives of many of the nation's urban and suburban counties.

ASSAU (N.Y.) County executive Ralph G. Caso, in a 25-page document prepared over the past two months, presented his proposal to county executives gathered here for the annual convention of the National Association of Counties.

A major projected shift of national congressional strength from the rural and urban areas to the suburbs on the basis of the 1970 census, he said, compelled the county leaders to ban together as a counterweight to the legislative action committee of the United States Conference of Mayors, headed by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

The congressional projection, apparently the first of its kind in the nation, was based on 1970 census data and compiled by members of Caso's staff in Mineola, N.Y.

It showed that in the 1972 congressional elections, suburban areas will account for 165 seats in the House of Representatives, a gain of 21 over the present total, with the cities dropping from 148 to 136 seats and rural from 143 to 134.

'Balance Of Power'

"The balance of political power and influence should continue to shift to those political leaders who articulate and strive to maintain the suburban way of life an increasing number of national voters have chosen," Caso's report stated.

"Unfortunately, from a suburban point of view, many pieces of federal legislation still appear to concentrate on resolving problems which affect the suburbs by exclusively directing federal attention and aid to either those rural or urban parts of the problem area."

The solution, Caso concluded, was the formation of a "suburban action team," representing the elected county executives of many of the major suburban areas.

"I think it high time that the counties of this country get together on a united front to press for our own needs in Washington," Caso told newsmen. "We just can't sit back and let the cities walk all over us."

6 Major Areas

Caso listed six major areas in which the suburban action team might take immediate action and make immediate suggestions:

—"The national order of domestic priorities"

—"The comparative advantages of revenue-sharing vs. the federal assumption of welfare costs, etc."

—"The effect of Rep. (Wilbur) Mills's position on the issue of general revenue-sharing."

—"The effect of foreign-made SST's in terms of noise pollution in major suburban areas."

—"The 'wetport' concept of building off-shore airports in oceans and lakes."

—"The value-added tax as a potential major source of revenue."

He said that new legislative proposals benefiting the suburbs might also be made in the fields of health maintenance, housing and development assistance, public transportation, welfare federalization, education, pollution control and law enforcement, although he did not spell out any specific pieces of legislation he envisioned.

Members of the legislative action committee of the United States conference of mayors were arriving here Monday night for a one-day visit. Tuesday morning, 16 of the 17 big-city mayors on the committee will meet over breakfast with representatives of the National Association of Counties which is holding its annual convention here.

Six Acres Are Added To Ord City Park

The State Game Commission reported Tuesday an addition of six acres has been made to the Ord City Park with the aid of state and federal money.

The land was acquired at a cost of $10,150, including $800 over the original estimated cost.

Money is available through the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund for up to half of the estimated cost. The state pays another 25% while the local government unit requesting aid is required to pay the remainder plus any amount over the original estimate. The Ord area includes a two to three-acre lake, which will offer nonpower boating, ice skating, picnicking and limited camping.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

Knowledge of astrology can save your life. That statement is attributed to Roy Wilson, a 14-year North Carolina police department veteran in Charlotte. A specialist in crime analysis, he has noted a fascinating correlation between crime, accidents and planetary positions. Officer Wilson declares that astrological charts of every murder victim he has studied have all shown clearly that trouble was on the horizon.

Airport Terminal Discussion Is Scheduled For Next Fall

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority plans to meet with airline company representatives in April 1972, to decide whether or not to proceed with construction of a new terminal building, board members said Tuesday.

The announcement was made at the time Airport Authority members gave the go-ahead to the architects to prepare construction plans for the terminal building.

Frontier and United Airlines were reported to be in opposition still to the new terminal facility.

Improvement Hoped For

Board members hoped that the economic situation would take a turn for the better by next spring for the airlines.

Construction plans for the $3,229,000 facility are to be prepared by January for the Airport Authority to consider.

Chairman Richard Joyce said the construction plans would still be suitable if a decision is reached to postpone construction as planned in explaining why construction plans should be drawn up now.

Airport Authority member Joe Hampton said construction of the terminal facility would not require any increased taxation but would be supported from revenues generated by non-tax sources such as rent money from the lease of buildings and other fees which the Airport Authority collects.

Limited To 1.1 Mills

The Airport Authority is limited to a tax levy of 1.1 mills.

The Airport Authority at its monthly meeting approved a total budget of $2,812,616, which includes funds transfered from the present fiscal year budget for projects not completed.

The operating budget calls for expenditures of $1,357,616, of which $280,000 is for professional fees. Taxes are listed at $322,000 for the upcoming fiscal year.

Board members split 3-2 in approving the elimination from its rental car leases the provision that the rental car firm must have 100 outlets at airports throughout the country or be linked with an operation with 100 outlets.

Strictly Local Firm

Norman Krivosha, an attorney appearing for Nova Leasing, said his client — which wishes to become a fourth rental car firm at the terminal — cannot meet the requirement being strictly a local firm.

Krivosha objected to the provision contained in the leases on the grounds it is unfair and is a restraint to local firms interested in providing rent-a-car service.

Board member Richard Chapin sided with Krivosha and introduced the motion to eliminate the provision from all leases. The national rental car firms had not yet signed their leases, it was reported.

Siding with Chapin were Fred Eiche and Robert Phillips.

Hampton objected on the grounds that a national firm might pull out because of the possibility of less profits if a fourth firm is added. Joyce voted with Hampton in opposition to Chapin's motion.

Juan Corona: 1st Concerned About Family

Marysville, Calif. (AP) — "I lose my family, my home, everything," Juan Corona said, summing up the impact of the murder charges against him.

Asked if he killed the 25 itinerant farm workers whose bodies were found buried in orchards north of Yuba City, Corona replied: "No, sir. It is not true."

Corona spoke of his family as his No. 1 concern during an interview with reporters from the Los Angeles Times, the Sacramento Union and television station KCRA-TV, Sacramento.

"I don't know how long I'm going to be in jail," he said. "But there is nobody to support my family. I'ts just not good . . ."

People With Problems Keep Crisis Service Busy

. . . APPROXIMATELY 700 CALLS HANDLED IN SIX MONTHS

By IVAN TRAVNICEK
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's personal Crisis Service (PCS) has taken approximately 700 phone calls in their first six months of operation from November 1, 1970 to May 31, 1971, the chairman of the board of directors, Chaplain George Edgar said at a "rap" session for the group Tuesday night.

Edgar said he felt "the service has been very successful in the first six months of operation," and that there has been a "tremendous community response."

Edgar said the purpose of PCS is to "provide relief for persons under emotional stress. The telephone is the primary means of rendering this help," he said, "and the staff is primarily volunteers backed by participating community agencies."

One of the things most people don't realize, he said, is that the phone number (475-5171) for PCS is on the inside front cover of the telephone book.

Edgar said they have an annual operating budget of $1,800, most of which goes for their telephone bill and printing the monthly newsletter. The group is supported entirely by donations, he said, but that "the treasury right now has a little over $200 in it."

He said they will have a fund drive beginning Aug. 1 when they will be soliciting donations from about 600 businesses, community organizations and service and womens' clubs.

Dr. Charles Haywood, working with the training of volunteers, said the PCS is providing background information to the Grand Island Community Mental Health Center so that they can start a program of their own.

Along with their monthly "rap" sessions for the volunteers to exchange their experiences and seek new ideas, Edgar said, PCS will begin another training session for new volunteers beginning in September.

Haywood said they had already trained about 200 volunteers and that 54 of them were currently accepting calls.

Edgar said the reason people call relates to the fact that "most of the people handle most of their problems most of the time but once in a while something comes up they cannot handle." He said most of these problems are of a "one-time" nature such as a death in the family, dating or loneliness. He said loneliness hits hardest over the holidays, particularly Christmas, when most of their calls are related to this subject.

Edgar said a summary of 605 of the telephone calls PCS took in the first six months of their operation showed the calls fell into the following categories:

—Dating—16%.

—Personal (lonely, guilty)—10%.

—Assistance (doctor, lawyer, vocational assistance)—14%.

—Family (in-law, parent-teen)—8%.

—Pregnant (if or unwed)—8%.

—Marital (divorce, infidelity)—7%.

—Put-on (fake calls)—7%.

—Just talk (stealing, bad dreams)—5%.

—Sexual (VD, homosexuality, exhibitionism, lesbianism)—5%.

The remainder of the calls covered birth control pills for unmarrieds, draft counseling, grief, abortions, adoptions and other categories.

Edgar reported that most of the calls come in during the Wednesday through Sunday period with the majority of these on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. He said 64% of the callers are 20 or under and that 77% are 30 or under.

PCS volunteers try to refer the caller to specialized agencies such as the NU mental hygiene office, Family Services, physicians or clergy, that deal with the particular problem of the caller.

Edgar will continue as chairman of the board until Jan. 1, 1972 when Dr. Carmen Grant, the current vice president will take over. She is a psychologist at the University Health Center.

Secret Service Nabs $4 Million In Fake Bills

Philadelphia (AP) — The Secret Service said Tuesday it had seized $4 million in counterfeit $100 bills at Philadelphia International Airport and arrested the owner and an employe of a printing firm.

Myron Weinstein, head of the local Secret Service office, said Monday's seizure was one of the largest in the history of the Secret Service.

He said the bills were "of very, very high quality and very deceptive in appearance."

Arrested were Claude Forte, 34, Springfield, and Robert Osborne, 26, Philadelphia.

Weinstein said Forte owns the Girard Printing House Inc., and that Osborne is a printer there.

Democratic Leadership In Senate Catches Republicans By Surprise

©The New York Times

Washington — The Senate Democratic leadership caught the Republican opposition by surprise Tuesday by calling up for Senate consideration the election reform bill designed to limit campaign spending.

The campaign spending bill thus would precede legislation guaranteeing loans to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., instead of following it, as had been expected by the Republican leadership.

Senate Republicans were confronted with the situation that they must act on the campaign reform bill, which some of them oppose, if they want to get to the Lockheed bill, which the administration wants passed before Congress begins its summer recess Aug. 6.

That was the objective of the Democratic leadership, which feared that some Republicans wanted to stall if not kill the campaign reform bill. Now Republicans can stall on the Democratic-designed campaign bill only at the cost of delaying action on the administration-requested bill guaranteeing loans to failing major corporations, including Lockheed.

The one major power possessed by the majority leadership is to dictate the scheduling of legislation on the Senate floor. It is a power seldom used by the Democratic leadership. It was used Tuesday to neutralize potential Republican opposition to the campaign reform bill.

The tactic provoked an immediate protest from Sen. Gordon P. Allott, R-Colo., chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, who told a reporter "it is very difficult to understand why it is important to bring up now a campaign reform bill which will not go into effect until next year rather than the Lockheed bill in which there is a real time pressure."

Raid At Omaha Treatment Plant Is 'Unsuccessful'

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police vice squad unit officers found "nothing but paunch manure" when they searched for drugs in the city's packinghouse waste treatment plant Tuesday, officers said.

The search was prompted by a report from an "industrial spy" hired by the city who worked at the plant who had reported finding three employes smoking marijuana.

Omaha officials said no immediate plans have been made to investigate further.

Rockwell's Sales Off, Earnings Up

Pittsburgh (AP) — Despite a drop in sales, North American Rockwell Corp. reported nine-month earnings Tuesday of $50.23 million, compared to $47.6 million the year before.

The earnings, equal to $1.88 per share of common stock, came on sales of $1.67 billion. In 1970, earnings for the first nine months were $1.63 per share on sales of $1.76 billion.

Board Chairman W. F. Rockwell Jr. attributed the boost in income to lower interest costs and improved profits at the Aerospace, Automotive and Industrial Products Divisions.

Net earnings for the third quarter of 1971 were $18.94 million, or 73 cents per share, the firm said, on sales of $600.64 million. Net earnings for the third quarter of 1970 were $18.74 million, or 68 cents per share, on sales of $633.18 million.

U.C.-Berkeley Chancellor Is Council Head

©The New York Times

New York — Roger W. Heyns, who was chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley for six stormy years, until his resignation last month. Tuesday was appointed president of the American Council on Education.

Heyns, who will take office Jan. 1, after teaching a semester at the University of Michigan, succeeds Logan Wilson, who is retiring from the $50,000-a-year council presidency after 10 years.

The council often acts as a coordinating agency among the educational associations in lobbying efforts in Washington, and so Heyns said he was happy to report there are "lots of people I know" in the Nixon administration.

The major issue facing higher education is financing, he said, and there is a difference of opinion within higher education on which form federal assistance should take.

"We must be sure that federal aid doesn't reduce the effort of local or state support to higher education," Heyns said. "In general, however, I'm not too worried about reducing state expenditures."

Airport Terminal Discussion Is Scheduled For Next Fall

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority plans to meet with airline company representatives in April 1972, to decide whether or not to proceed with construction of a new terminal building, board members said Tuesday.

The announcement was made at the time Airport Authority members gave the go-ahead to the architects to prepare construction plans for the terminal building.

Frontier and United Airlines were reported to be in opposition still to the new terminal facility.

Improvement Hoped For

Board members hoped that the economic situation would take a turn for the better by next spring for the airlines.

Construction plans for the $3,229,000 facility are to be prepared by January for the Airport Authority to consider.

Chairman Richard Joyce said the construction plans would still be suitable if a decision is reached to postpone construction as planned in explaining why construction plans should be drawn up now.

Airport Authority member Joe Hampton said construction of the terminal facility would not require any increased taxation but would be supported from revenues generated by non-tax sources such as rent money from the lease of buildings and other fees which the Airport Authority collects.

Limited To 1.1 Mills

The Airport Authority is limited to a tax levy of 1.1 mills.

The Airport Authority at its monthly meeting approved a total budget of $2,812,616, which includes funds transfered from the present fiscal year budget for projects not completed.

The operating budget calls for expenditures of $1,357,616, of which $280,000 is for professional fees. Taxes are listed at $322,000 for the upcoming fiscal year.

Board members split 3-2 in approving the elimination from its rental car leases the provision that the rental car firm must have 100 outlets at airports throughout the country or be linked with an operation with 100 outlets.

Strictly Local Firm

Norman Krivosha, an attorney appearing for Nova Leasing, said his client — which wishes to become a fourth rental car firm at the terminal — cannot meet the requirement being strictly a local firm.

Krivosha objected to the provision contained in the leases on the grounds it is unfair and is a restraint to local firms interested in providing rent-a-car service.

Board member Richard Chapin sided with Krivosha and introduced the motion to eliminate the provision from all leases. The national rental car firms had not yet signed their leases, it was reported.

Siding with Chapin were Fred Eiche and Robert Phillips.

Hampton objected on the grounds that a national firm might pull out because of the possibility of less profits if a fourth firm is added. Joyce voted with Hampton in opposition to Chapin's motion.

Asked if he killed the 25 itinerant farm workers whose bodies were found buried in orchards north of Yuba City, Corona replied: "No, sir. It is not true."

Corona spoke of his family as his No. 1 concern during an interview with reporters from the Los Angeles Times, the Sacramento Union and television station KCRA-TV, Sacramento.

"I don't know how long I'm going to be in jail," he said. "But there is nobody to support my family. It's just not good."

People With Problems Keep Crisis Service Busy

. . . APPROXIMATELY 700 CALLS HANDLED IN SIX MONTHS

By IVAN TRAVNICEK
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's personal Crisis Service (PCS) has taken approximately 700 phone calls in their first six months of operation from November 1, 1970 to May 31, 1971, the chairman of the board of directors, Chaplain George Edgar said at a "rap" session for the group Tuesday night.

Edgar said he felt "the service has been very successful in the first six months of operation," and that there has been a "tremendous community response."

Edgar said the purpose of PCS is to "provide relief for persons under emotional stress. The telephone is the primary means of rendering this help," he said, "and the staff is primarily volunteers backed by participating community agencies."

One of the things most people don't realize, he said, is that the phone number (475-5171) for PCS is on the inside front cover of the telephone book.

Edgar said they have an annual operating budget of $1,800, most of which goes for their telephone bill and printing the monthly newsletter. The group is supported entirely by donations, he said, but that "the treasury right now has a little over $200 in it."

He said they will have a fund drive beginning Aug. 1 when they will be soliciting donations from about 600 businesses, community organizations and service and womens' clubs.

Dr. Charles Haywood, working with the training of volunteers, said the PCS is providing background information to the Grand Island Community Mental Health Center so that they can start a program of their own.

Along with their monthly "rap" sessions for the volunteers to exchange their experiences and seek new ideas, Edgar said, PCS will begin another training session for new volunteers beginning in September.

Haywood said they had already trained about 200 volunteers and that 54 of them were currently accepting calls.

Edgar said the reason people call relates to the fact that "most of the people handle most of their problems most of the time but once in a while something comes up they cannot handle." He said most of these problems are of a "one-time" nature such as a death in the family, dating or loneliness. He said loneliness hits hardest over the holidays, particularly Christmas, when most of their calls are related to this subject.

Edgar said a summary of 605 of the telephone calls PCS took in the first six months of their operation showed the calls fell into the following categories:

—Dating—16%.

—Personal (lonely, guilty)—10%.

—Assistance (doctor, lawyer, vocational assistance)—14%.

—Family (in-law, parent-teen)—8%.

—Pregnant (if or unwed)—8%.

—Marital (divorce, infidelity)—7%.

—Put-on (fake calls)—7%.

—Just talk (stealing, bad dreams)—5%.

—Sexual (VD, homosexuality, exhibitionism, lesbianism)—5%.

The remainder of the calls covered birth control pills for unmarrieds, draft counseling, grief, abortions, adoptions and other categories.

Edgar reported that most of the calls come in during the Wednesday through Sunday period with the majority of these on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. He said 64% of the callers are 20 or under and that 77% are 30 or under.

PCS volunteers try to refer the caller to specialized agencies such as the NU mental hygiene office, Family Services, physicians or clergy, that deal with the particular problem of the caller.

Edgar will continue as chairman of the board until Jan. 1, 1972 when Dr. Carmen Grant, the current vice president will take over. She is a psychologist at the University Health Center.

Secret Service Nabs $4 Million In Fake Bills

Philadelphia (AP) — The Secret Service said Tuesday it had seized $4 million in counterfeit $100 bills at Philadelphia International Airport and arrested the owner and an employe of a printing firm.

Myron Weinstein, head of the local Secret Service office, said Monday's seizure was one of the largest in the history of the Secret Service.

He said the bills were "of very, very high quality and very deceptive in appearance."

Arrested were Claude Forte, 34, Springfield, and Robert Osborne, 26, Philadelphia.

Weinstein said Forte owns the Girard Printing House Inc., and that Osborne is a printer there

Democratic Leadership In Senate Catches Republicans By Surprise

The campaign spending bill thus would precede legislation guaranteeing loans to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., instead of following it, as had been expected by the Republican leadership.

Some Of It Is Fun

Sitting around twiddling one's thumbs for three or four hours waiting for a couple of 130 shooters to finish their eighth flight match in the Nebraska State Ladies Golf Tournament is hardly this writer's idea of a fun afternoon, but there were some lighter moments at last week's action in Norfolk.

For instance, there was the gal who was noticed carrying her putter very carefully cradled in both arms any time she was walking on the green, handling it as carefully as she would a carton of eggs.

Finally the curiosity was getting to be too much for host professional Glen Blakeman and upon inquiring was told by the lady that someone at her home club had told her the putter was never to touch the green lest she be charged with a penalty.

And there was the gal, who very meticulously took two or three practice swings before every shot, but explained that she never takes a practice swing during a normal round.

"But one of the girls told me in a tournament, you have to take practice swings," she explained.

Another came off the course after shooting a 115 in the qualifying round and exclaimed, "The course is sure playing easy today."

Parking Lot A Sure Sign

Even if you didn't know beforehand that a women's tournament was going on, you knew it as soon as you drove into the Norfolk Country Club's parking lot.

In a parking lot designed for 150 or so cars, the women managed to arrange it so only 100 or less could park in it.

One gal was overheard telling another about the first hole: "I finally figured out how to play that hole," she boasted. "I got a 15 there yesterday, but today, I made a 13." And she was serious.

Two others came into the scoring room to report that one had won the match by 4 and 3 and headed for the bar. But the scorer in checking their card discovered that the leader was only two holes ahead with three to play.

And Blakeman showed more courage (or lack of sense) than most pros would have by going in and telling them they had to go back and finish the match.

Even the male marshalls got into the act. When one of the girls found her ball lodged near a tree, the marshall explained she had three options.

"You can try to hit it," he explained. "Or you can declare it unplayable and take a drop with a penalty. Or you can kiss me and I'll kick it out for you."

Shoe On Other Foot

Any man who has ever had to call his wife while on a business trip to explain that he won't be home for another day knows how mad that can make the little lady.

The shoe was on the other foot several times during the gals' tourney as they called hubby after winning a match to inform him that he was going to have to do his own cooking for still another day.

In many instances, it was a good thing there was a telephone strike and male operators were manning the lines.

One husband, doubting his wife's golf ability, even made a 100-mile trip to pick her up and upon arriving discovered she had scored an upset by winning and he drove back home — alone.

But perhaps the maddest husband was the one who got a call from his wife telling him she wouldn't be home the next day for their anniversary since she had won her match and had to play again that day.

Gem's Package May Make Amends In Feature

. . . HUSKER ACE SCORES FIRST 1971 VICTORY IN WEDNESDAY FEATURE

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Gem's Package is hoping to make amends for a second-place showing in the Lincoln Derby when he challenges six foes in today's Breeders' Special Stakes at the State Fairgrounds.

The Jerry Kirby-owned-and-trained gelding triumphed in his first Lincoln appearance and then ran second to Swinging Lisa by 13 lengths on July 10 in the Derby defeating four opponents — two of which he will face today.

Sporting a 1971 record of two wins, two seconds and two thirds for $6,866 to his David City boss, Gem's Package, will be making his second straight start at one mile in today's chase that has attracted seven Nebraska-bred 3-year-olds. The race will gross $5,380.

Sharing top-weight of 120 pounds with Gem's Package will be He's A People, who resumed Nebraska campaigning in the Lincoln Derby after five starts at Assiniboia Downs in Winnipeg. He earned two seconds at Fonner Park before journeying northward.

Owned by Norbert Borwege of Roseland, the brown colt finished fourth — five lengths back of Gem's Package in the Derby. He has collected three victories and four seconds in 11 1971 starts for a purse of $6,696.60.

At Winnipeg, He's A People captured three straight races with a second and a third sandwiched around the triumphs, but was never better than third in the Derby.

Gem's Package will be steered by regular jockey Wayne Anderson, while He's A People will be driven by Alan Patterson.

Getting in at 117 pounds will be Beckon Call, who finished seventh to Gem's Package in the Kirby-colt's first Lincoln outing. Owned and trained by C. L. Clapper of Lincoln, the chestnut gelding has triumphed in two of 14 starts this year.

Kandy Korn, half of the Lawrence Harbaugh entry, and Wichita Charles each get in at 113 pounds while Mingaling, part of the Kirby entry, will carry 109 pounds. Harbaugh's second competitor, Amotan, will carry low-weight of 104 pounds.

At the Fairgrounds Tuesday, Husker Ace proved that late speed is better than early speed in capturing the feature race with a length triumph over Hidden Valley Girl.

"He didn't have that early speed that he'd shown before, but it was good enough today," said Glen Fudge of Ashland, who co-owns the 5-year-old gelding with William Fudge.

In earning his first 1971 triumph, Husker Ace returned $1,200 to his owners by laying third through much of the 5½-furlong allowance scamper and then drove past Hidden Valley Girl to raise his year's collection to $5,610. Second-favored by the 4,461 patrons, he returned $5.80, $2.80 and $2.40.

Terming Husker Ace not exceptionally sharp when he ran second to Bold Accent by one length on the Fairgrounds' Inaugural Purse, Fudge said he had no special instructions for jockey John Rettele.

"He (Rettele) was just riding him the way he thought best," Fudge said. "We thought he'd run a little better in the Bold Accent race, but he just wasn't sharp.

The fifth race exacta produced a quirk where a dead heat developed and an objection was allowed.

Hasty Kerry and Flashey Song deadlocked for the win, but Weldon Armstrong, rider of Rythmn Peel, claimed that Hasty Kerry interfered with his horse in the stretch.

After viewing the tape of the race, the stewards found that Flashey Song had interefered with Rythmn Peel as the horses roared down the stretch. The dead heat was then disallowed, and Flashey Song was moved from a tie for first to fourth, while Powdered Protein advanced to second and Rythmn Peel rose to third.

WASHINGTON TRIUMPHS

Nixons Watch Senators Win

. . . BREWERS LOSE, 5-1

By Associated Press

President Nixon, a baseball fan, made his first appearance of the season at a Washington game Tuesday night and watched the Senators beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 5-1.

The President arrived in the bottom of the fourth inning accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and their daughter, Julie Eisenhower. The Senators led 3-1 at the time.

The Brewers collected 11 hits off Dick Bosman, 8-10, but were held scoreless after the first inning. It was the third win in a row for Washington.

In other American League night games, Boston edged Chicago, 5-4, the New York Yankees rallied to defeat Minnesota, 6-5 and Kansas City topped Baltimore, 7-1. In National League night action, Atlanta topped San Diego, 3-1, Pittsburgh outslugged San Francisco, 11-7, Philadelphia topped St. Louis, 5-1, Cincinnati beat Los Angeles, 7-1 and Montreal edged Houston, 4-3, in 10 innings. In a day game, the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Mets, 4-3.

Rico Petrocelli's single with two out in the ninth inning gave the Red Sox a 5-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Earlier, Petrocelli cracked his 18th homer of the season.

Ron Swoboda knocked in the winning run for the New York Yankees with an infield grounder, capping a five-run ninth-inning rally. The Twins had built up an early 5-1 lead by scoring five runs in the sixth innings, four of them on Jim Nettles' grand slam homer.

Dick Drago tossed a five hitter for Kansas City, and Cookie Rojas provided the batting support with four hits.

Hank Aaron's 26th homer of the season, a two-run blast with one out in the ninth, gave Atlanta a 3-1 decision over San Diego. It was his 618th career homer.

Two errors by San Francisco shortstop Chris Speier led to five unearned runs as Pittsburgh outscored the Giants, 11-7. Chris Short, 6-11, fired a three-hitter against St. Louis.

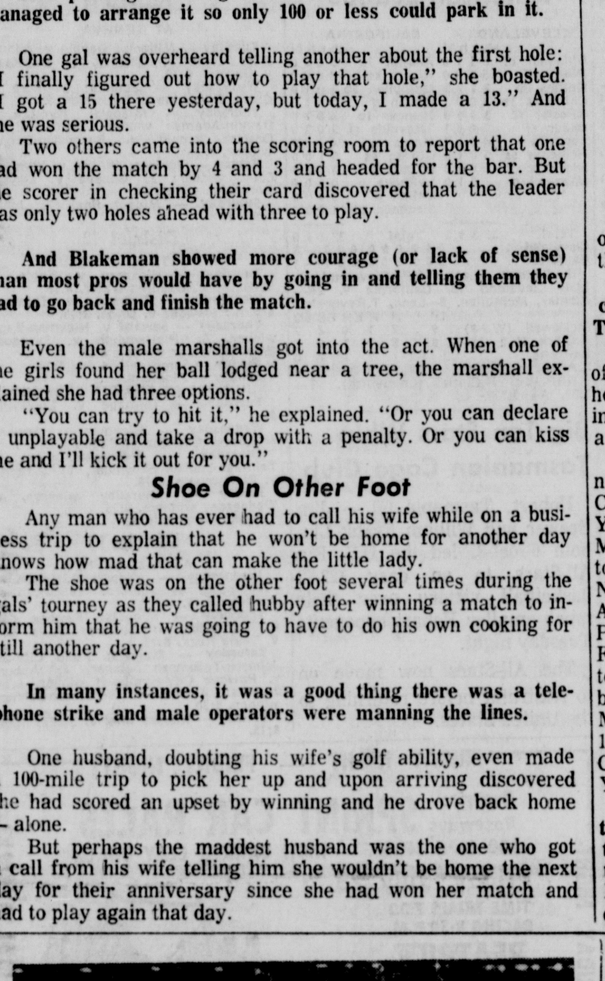

A bases-loaded double by Tommy Helms was the big blow in a five-run seventh inning as Cincinnati trounched last Los Angeles. Montreal beat Houston when John Boccabella, a former Astro, singled home the winning run for the Expos in the 10th inning.

Ferguson Jenkins won his 15th game of the season by beating the New York Mets, 4-2. He struck out eight while posting his fifth straight win over the Mets since June 22, 1970.

Tommie Reynolds made a leaping catch against the bullpen fence to deprive Detroit of a run in the seventh inning, then crashed a two-out, two-run double in the eighth to give the California Angels and Andy Messersmith a 2-0 victory over the Tigers in a late West coast game.

Omaha Royals Sweep Twinbill

Omaha (AP) — John Sullivan with a home run and two singles helped Omaha to a 5-2 victory over Evansville in the first game of a doubleheader here Tuesday night.

Ken Huebner enjoyed a 3-for-3 night as did Sullivan as the Royals ended a five-game losing streak in the first game.

Righthander Ken Wright, recording his first decision in the American Association since joining Omaha from Kansas City, checked the Tripletts on five hits.

Sullivan homered to open the Royal's second inning.

Dan Haynes doubled home the winning run with two out in the seventh as Omaha won the nightcap, 4-3.

Haynes double drive in Buck Martinez from first base. Martinez singled off shortstop Tommy Matchick's glove with one out.

Lloyd Gladden gained the victory for the Royals after starter Mike Jackson and reliever Chuck Murray were both pulled.

Burwell Rodeo Director Says Rodeo Will Go On As Planned

. . . ADDED PRECAUTIONS FOR VEE SET

Burwell (AP) — Nebraska's big rodeo, scheduled here for Aug. 11-14, will go on as planned but with added precautions against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), rodeo director Paul Banks said Tuesday.

Nebraska had embargoed horses from Texas and Oklahoma but Banks said this won't prevent Nebraska bringing in a top flight string of stock for the rodeo.

Banks added every head of livestock coming into the state and all rodeo acts will have to submit to inspection to make certain there is no danger from the mosquito-carried disease.

He noted the procedure was decided upon after consultation with Dr. Norman Kruse the state veterinarian.

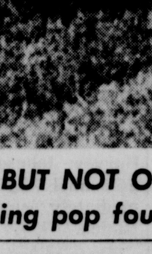

And he said although there were no cases of the disease reported in Oklahoma, the additional precautions were taken against Oklahoma stock to make certain that there was contact with stock which might have entered the state from Texas before the embargo on Texas horses was imposed.

"We're going to rodeo," concluded Banks. "All our stock will be clean."

He also said the stock contractor, Elra Butler and son of Elk City, Okla., will bring his own bulls, calves and steers but will get broncs and other horses from Herry Vold and Son of Boulder, Colo., who have a couple of top strings of rodeo livestock.

Aunt Priscilla Enjoys Weather

I think the horses love this cool weather, I know I certainly do and that sweet breeze makes me feel much better when I watch my darlings run — especially the ones that win.

Priscilla

That lovely Husker Ace certainly did pick a fine time to run real fast and get his first victory of the year — he did it on just the day I had a $2 win ticket on the cutie.

Even though that dear Perry Gray ran fourth, I still collected $1.80 profit since Husker Ace paid $5.80. My $100 spree fund rose to $176.80 — more than your old Aunt Priscilla can ever remember.

But we can't heap praise on Husker Ace (who must be a real NU booster with a name like that). We'll try to increase our earnings today with $2 win tickets on Jujan in the fifth and Society Verna in the sixth.

Incoming Horses Need Certificates

By United Press International

The state veterinarian's office said Tuesday due to the outbreak of horse sleeping sickness, animals coming into Nebraska must be accompanied by a health certificate and a permit.

Last week, the disease was reported and confirmed in Texas. State veterinarian Dr. Norman Kruse announced Friday an embargo had been imposed on horses coming from Texas and Oklahoma.

Kruse said Tuesday, amid "rumors' 'the disease has been found in other states, Nebraska now requires all incoming horses to have a health certificate issued by a veterinarian at the point of origin.

In addition, he said, the shipper must have a special permit issued by his office giving permission to enter the state.

The permit, Kruse said, may be obtained by telephone after a health certificate has been obtained by the shipper.

Some Of It Is Fun

Sitting around twiddling one's thumbs for three or four hours waiting for a couple of 130 shooters to finish their eighth flight match in the Nebraska State Ladies Golf Tournament is hardly this writer's idea of a fun afternoon, but there were some lighter moments at last week's action in Norfolk.

For instance, there was the gal who was noticed carrying her putter very carefully cradled in both arms any time she was walking on the green, handling it as carefully as she would a carton of eggs.

Finally the curiosity was getting to be too much for host professional Glen Blakeman and upon inquiring was told by the lady that someone at her home club had told her the putter was never to touch the green lest she be charged with a penalty.

And there was the gal, who very meticulously took two or three practice swings before every shot, but explained that she never takes a practice swing during a normal round.

"But one of the girls told me in a tournament, you have to take practice swings," she explained.

Another came off the course after shooting a 115 in the qualifying round and exclaimed, "The course is sure playing easy today."

Parking Lot A Sure Sign

Even if you didn't know beforehand that a women's tournament was going on, you knew it as soon as you drove into the Norfolk Country Club's parking lot.

In a parking lot designed for 150 or so cars, the women managed to arrange it so only 100 or less could park in it.

One gal was overheard telling another about the first hole: "I finally figured out how to play that hole," she boasted. "I got a 15 there yesterday, but today, I made a 13." And she was serious.

Two others came into the scoring room to report that one had won the match by 4 and 3 and headed for the bar. But the scorer in checking their card discovered that the leader was only two holes ahead with three to play.

And Blakeman showed more courage (or lack of sense) than most pros would have by going in and telling them they had to go back and finish the match.

Even the male marshalls got into the act. When one of the girls found her ball lodged near a tree, the marshall explained she had three options.

"You can try to hit it," he explained. "Or you can declare it unplayable and take a drop with a penalty. Or you can kiss me and I'll kick it out for you."

Shoe On Other Foot

Any man who has ever had to call his wife while on a business trip to explain that he won't be home for another day knows how mad that can make the little lady.

The shoe was on the other foot several times during the gals' tourney as they called hubby after winning a match to inform him that he was going to have to do his own cooking for still another day.

In many instances, it was a good thing there was a telephone strike and male operators were manning the lines.

One husband, doubting his wife's golf ability, even made a 100-mile trip to pick her up and upon arriving discovered she had scored an upset by winning and he drove back home — alone.

But perhaps the maddest husband was the one who got a call from his wife telling him she wouldn't be home the next day for their anniversary since she had won her match and had to play again that day.

Gem's Package May Make Amends In Feature

. . . HUSKER ACE SCORES FIRST 1971 VICTORY IN WEDNESDAY FEATURE

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Gem's Package is hoping to make amends for a second-place showing in the Lincoln Derby when he challenges six foes in today's Breeders' Special Stakes at the State Fairgrounds.

The Jerry Kirby-owned-and-trained gelding triumphed in his first Lincoln appearance and then ran second to Swinging Lisa by 13 lengths on July 10 in the Derby defeating four opponents — two of which he will face today.

Sporting a 1971 record of two wins, two seconds and two thirds for $6,866 to his David City boss, Gem's Package, will be making his second straight start at one mile in today's chase that has attracted seven Nebraska-bred 3-year-olds. The race will gross $5,380.

Sharing top-weight of 120 pounds with Gem's Package will be He's A People, who resumed Nebraska campaigning in the Lincoln Derby after five starts at Assiniboia Downs in Winnipeg. He earned two seconds at Fonner Park before journeying northward.

Owned by Norbert Borwege of Roseland, the brown colt finished fourth — five lengths back of Gem's Package in the Derby. He has collected three victories and four seconds in 11 1971 starts for a purse of $6,696.60.

At Winnipeg, He's A People captured three straight races with a second and a third sandwiched around the triumphs, but was never better than third in the Derby.

Gem's Package will be steered by regular jockey Wayne Anderson, while He's A People will be driven by Alan Patterson.

Getting in at 117 pounds will be Beckon Call, who finished seventh to Gem's Package in the Kirby-colt's first Lincoln outing. Owned and trained by C. L. Clapper of Lincoln, the chestnut gelding has triumphed in two of 14 starts this year.

Kandy Korn, half of the Lawrence Harbaugh entry, and Wichita Charles each get in at 113 pounds while Mingaling, part of the Kirby entry, will carry 109 pounds. Harbaugh's second competitor, Amotan, will carry low-weight of 104 pounds.

At the Fairgrounds Tuesday, Husker Ace proved that late speed is better than early speed in capturing the feature race with a length triumph over Hidden Valley Girl.

"He didn't have that early speed that he'd shown before, but it was good enough today," said Glen Fudge of Ashland, who co-owns the 5-year-old gelding with William Fudge.

In earning his first 1971 triumph, Husker Ace returned $1,200 to his owners by laying third through much of the 5½-furlong allowance scamper and then drove past Hidden Valley Girl to raise his year's collection to $5,610. Second-favored by the 4,461 patrons, he returned $5.80, $2.80 and $2.40.

Terming Husker Ace not exceptionally sharp when he ran second to Bold Accent by one length on the Fairgrounds' Inaugural Purse, Fudge said he had no special instructions for jockey John Rettele.

"He (Rettele) was just riding him the way he thought best," Fudge said. "We thought he'd run a little better in the Bold Accent race, but he just wasn't sharp.

The fifth race exacta produced a quirk where a dead heat developed and an objection was allowed.

Hasty Kerry and Flashey Song deadlocked for the win, but Weldon Armstrong, rider of Rythmn Peel, claimed that Hasty Kerry interfered with his horse in the stretch.

After viewing the tape of the race, the stewards found that Flashey Song had interefered with Rythmn Peel as the horses roared down the stretch. The dead heat was then disallowed, and Flashey Song was moved from a tie for first to fourth, while Powdered Protein advanced to second and Rythmn Peel rose to third.

WASHINGTON TRIUMPHS

Nixons Watch Senators Win

. . . BREWERS LOSE, 5-1

By Associated Press

President Nixon, a baseball fan, made his first appearance of the season at a Washington game Tuesday night and watched the Senators beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 5-1.

The President arrived in the bottom of the fourth inning accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and their daughter, Julie Eisenhower. The Senators led 3-1 at the time.

The Brewers collected 11 hits off Dick Bosman, 8-10, but were held scoreless after the first inning. It was the third win in a row for Washington.

In other American League night games, Boston edged Chicago, 5-4, the New York Yankees rallied to defeat Minnesota, 6-5 and Kansas City topped Baltimore, 7-1. In National League night action, Atlanta topped San Diego, 3-1, Pittsburgh outslugged San Francisco, 11-7, Philadelphia topped St. Louis, 5-1, Cincinnati beat Los Angeles, 7-1 and Montreal edged Houston, 4-3, in 10 innings. In a day game, the Chicago Cubs beat the New York Mets, 4-3.

Rico Petrocelli's single with two out in the ninth inning gave the Red Sox a 5-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Earlier, Petrocelli cracked his 18th homer of the season.

Ron Swoboda knocked in the winning run for the New York Yankees with an infield grounder, capping a five-run ninth-inning rally. The Twins had built up an early 5-1 lead by scoring five runs in the sixth innings, four of them on Jim Nettles' grand slam homer.

Dick Drago tossed a five hitter for Kansas City, and Cookie Rojas provided the batting support with four hits.

Hank Aaron's 26th homer of the season, a two-run blast with one out in the ninth, gave Atlanta a 3-1 decision over San Diego. It was his 618th career homer.

Two errors by San Francisco shortstop Chris Speier led to five unearned runs as Pittsburgh outscored the Giants, 11-7. Chris Short, 6-11, fired a three-hitter against St. Louis.

A bases-loaded double by Tommy Helms was the big blow in a five-run seventh inning as Cincinnati trounched last Los Angeles. Montreal beat Houston when John Boccabella, a former Astro, singled home the winning run for the Expos in the 10th inning.

Ferguson Jenkins won his 15th game of the season by beating the New York Mets, 4-2. He struck out eight while posting his fifth straight win over the Mets since June 22, 1970.

Tommie Reynolds made a leaping catch against the bullpen fence to deprive Detroit of a run in the seventh inning, then crashed a two-out, two-run double in the eighth to give the California Angels and Andy Messersmith a 2-0 victory over the Tigers in a late West coast game.

Aunt Priscilla Enjoys Weather

I think the horses love this cool weather, I know I certainly do and that sweet breeze makes me feel much better when I watch my darlings run — especially the ones that win.

Priscilla

That lovely Husker Ace certainly did pick a fine time to run real fast and get his first victory of the year — he did it on just the day I had a $2 win ticket on the cutie.

Even though that dear Perry Gray ran fourth, I still collected $1.80 profit since Husker Ace paid $5.80. My $100 spree fund rose to $176.80 — more than your old Aunt Priscilla can ever remember.

But we can't heap praise on Husker Ace (who must be a real NU booster with a name like that). We'll try to increase our earnings today with $2 win tickets on Jujan in the fifth and Society Verna in the sixth.

Burwell Rodeo Director Says Rodeo Will Go On As Planned

. . . ADDED PRECAUTIONS FOR VEE SET

Burwell (AP) — Nebraska's big rodeo, scheduled here for Aug. 11-14, will go on as planned but with added precautions against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), rodeo director Paul Banks said Tuesday.

Nebraska had embargoed horses from Texas and Oklahoma but Banks said this won't prevent Nebraska bringing in a top flight string of stock for the rodeo.

Banks added every head of livestock coming into the state and all rodeo acts will have to submit to inspection to make certain there is no danger from the mosquito-carried disease.

He noted the procedure was decided upon after consultation with Dr. Norman Kruse the state veterinarian.

And he said although there were no cases of the disease reported in Oklahoma, the additional precautions were taken against Oklahoma stock to make certain that there was contact with stock which might have entered the state from Texas before the embargo on Texas horses was imposed.

"We're going to rodeo," concluded Banks. "All our stock will be clean."

He also said the stock contractor, Elra Butler and son of Elk City, Okla., will bring his own bulls, calves and steers but will get broncs and other horses from Herry Vold and Son of Boulder, Colo., who have a couple of top strings of rodeo livestock.

Ak-Sar-Ben Pays Record Tax Payment

Omaha — A record payment of $1,750,317.92 from the 4% tax on pari-mutuel wagering has been made to the Nebraska State Department of Revenue by Ak-Sar-Ben.

The state participated in the Ak-Sar-Ben Races to the sum of more than $1.9 million. The total includes the pari-mutuel tax, state admission tax, daily track license, and the state sales tax. The breakdown:

Pari-mutuel tax	$1,750,317.92
State admission tax	90,829.80
Daily track license	9,600.00
Sales tax (estimated)	67,369.91
Total	$1,918,117.63

Ak-Sar-Ben also collected an estimated $10,000 in individual licenses which, along with the admission taxes, are earmarked for Nebraska's county fairs. The pari-mutuel and sales taxes go into the state's general fund.

Proceeds from the race meetings go to Ak-Sar-Ben's program of agricultural, charitable and educational activities.

Incoming Horses Need Certificates

By United Press International

The state veterinarian's office said Tuesday due to the outbreak of horse sleeping sickness, animals coming into Nebraska must be accompanied by a health certificate and a permit.

Last week, the disease was reported and confirmed in Texas. State veterinarian Dr. Norman Kruse announced Friday an embargo had been imposed on horses coming from Texas and Oklahoma.

Kruse said Tuesday, amid "rumors" 'the disease has been found in other states, Nebraska now requires all incoming horses to have a health certificate issued by a veterinarian at the point of origin.

In addition, he said, the shipper must have a special permit issued by his office giving permission to enter the state.

The permit, Kruse said, may be obtained by telephone after a health certificate has been obtained by the shipper.

Ali's Training Picks Up As Ellis Match Nears

. . . EX-CHAMP TAKING SOME STIFF SHOTS

Houston (AP) — Muhammad Ali told questioners Tuesday not to be too worry about how he looks while he is preparing for his Monday fight with Jimmy Ellis. Ali said he is taking the scientific approach.

"You take those astronauts when they are getting ready," he said. "They train and they take precautions in case pens."

"That's exactly what I'm doing," he added. "I let those Astrohall doing sparring partners take a few toughened up for this fight. If Ali fights a fellow trains light and sud- denly gets into the fight and starts taking some hard shots, he's not ready."

I want my head to take a few jars. I want my eyeballs through training sessions at the Astrodome bout that will be televised world wide. against two partners, Ellis tapered off with only two rounds.

Harry Wiley, Ali's trainer, said it might appear to some that Ali was loafing in the workouts.

"Most fighters use the medicine ball to toughen themselves up for a fight," said Wiley, former manager of Sugar Ray Robinson.

"But Ali uses the gloves. He lets his sparring partners get him in shape. This is the most technical part of training. There are things now that you can't overdo and others that you can't underdo but he's starting to come along now."

Ali said he finished the workout at 216 pounds, five less than when he had started.

"How could I lose five pounds?" he asked while returning to the scales for a recheck.

"That's a lot of weight. You buy a pound of hamburger meat and hold it in your hand. That's a lot of meat."

Ali also said he had been eating a lot of honey and taking vitamins to get ready for the fight.

"I never east breakfast when I am in training but I take three or four teaspoons of black strap molasses and I take my honey to the restaurant to eat," he said. "People must think I am crazy coming in with a bottle of honey.

"People don't realize when you get a little age on you you have to plan things better," Ali said.

"I used to see Sugar Ray in his last days and when he would come in from training he would lay down and rest," Ali said. "I know what he was doing now. He was tired.

"Now, when I get back to the hotel, I rest," the former champion said. "Used to, I took everything as it came along. Now I've got a plan."

Both Ali and Ellis are to take their prefight physical examinations prior to today's workouts.

Iowa, New York Enact Partial Horse Embargo

By Associated Press

An embargo to prevent horses with sleeping sickness from entering Iowa was put into effect Tuesday with state veterinarians and federal officials instructed to check incoming stock.

"Right at the moment I don't think that it's time to panic, but we have to realize this is a serious threat to the horse population," said State Veterinarian E. A. Butler.

The ban is imposed on horses from Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, where thousands of the animals have died from Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE).

Carried by mosquitoes, the disease is a form of sleeping sickness that strikes horses, usually killing half its victims. No cases have been reported so far in Iowa.

Besides prohibiting entry of horses from the five states, permits certifying horses from Kansas and Colorado as free from VEE will be required before they are allowed into Iowa.

"We aren't going to have border checks and stop everyone coming across," Dr. Butler said. "There will be some horses that undoubtedly will be boot-legged into the state.

"You can't really control the border constantly to keep horses out. You spot-check and catch some now and then."

Butler said Tuesday that officials of neighboring states have been notified of the action taken by Iowa and persons manning ports of entry or weigh stations will pass the word to the Iowa Highway Patrol if they see horses being transported.

"You have to depend on the cooperation of the various states," Butler said noting that Nebraska also has imposed an embargo on horses from two states and is requiring permits for VEE free horses from several other states to the south.

Dr. Butler said persons bringing horses into Iowa illegally will be subject to a fine of several hundred dollars, and could have their horses quarantined and ordered sent home.

And the New York Racing Association also clamped an embargo on horses shipped from 11 states, Mexico, Central America and portions of South America. The ban affects the Saratoga, Belmont and Aqueduct tracks.

"If we make an error in this matter, we want it to be on the side of caution," Alfred G. Vanderbilt, chairman of the NYRA, said in referring to the rare sleeping disease which has killed thousands of horses in Texas and adjoining states.

The disease — known as Venezuelan Equine Encephalomeylitis — is believed to have originated in Mexico. The government has ordered vaccination in the affected states.

Among the horses affected is Ack Ack, winner of last week's Santa Anita Derby, who was expected to come east.

KU Sells Out Ticket Allotment For NU Clash

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The University of Kansas announced today it has sold all of its allotment of tickets for the Kansas-Nebraska football game at Lincoln Oct. 16.

Novotny said tickets are available at Allen Field House here for all other Kansas football games, including the Kansas State and Missouri games at Lawrence, which are expected to be sellouts.

Rauch Quits As Top Man For Buffalo

Niagara Falls, N.Y. (AP) — John Rauch resigned unexpectedly Tuesday as head coach of the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League.

Rauch resigned after a meeting with Ralph C. Wilson, Jr., owner of the team, at the Bills' training camp here. Wilson said he met with Rauch to tell the coach he was about to issue statements defending two former Bills players who Rauch had criticized in a recent television program.

The players are Ron McDole and Paul Maguire.

"He told me if I did so, I would have to get myself a new head coach," Wilson said. "I regret John's decision as I respect his football knowledge and his willingness the last two years to try and build with young players."

A team spokesman said Harvey Johnson, Bills' player personnel director, was immediately named to succeed Rauch.

The spokesman also said Rauch had left the team's training camp.

Rauch was not immediately available for comment.

Rauch took over as coach of the Bills at the start of the 1969 season. He had formerly coached the Oakland Raiders.

Ali's Training Picks Up As Ellis Match Nears

. . . EX-CHAMP TAKING SOME STIFF SHOTS

Houston (AP) — Muhammad Ali told questioners Tuesday not to jar. I want my eyeballs worry about how he looks while he is preparing for his Monday fight with Jimmy Ellis. Ali said he is taking the scientific approach.

"You take those astronauts when they are getting ready." he said. "They train and they take precautions in case something unexpected happens.

"That's exactly what I'm doing," he added. "I let those Astrohall sparring partners take a few shots. I want to get my body toughened up for this fight. If Ali starts taking some hard shots, he's not ready.

"If I were to decide I was really going to whip those guys it would be really terrible," he said. "I would wipe them out."

Both Ali and Ellis went through training sessions at Astrodome bout that will be televised world wide.

If Ali sparred eight rounds against two partners, Ellis sparred eight rounds, tapered off with only two rounds.

Harry Wiley, Ali's trainer, said it might appear to some that Ali was loafing in the workouts.

"Most fighters use the medicine ball to toughen themselves up for a fight," said Wiley, former manager of Sugar Ray Robinson.

"But Ali uses the gloves. He lets his sparring partners get him in shape. This is the most technical part of training. There are things now that you can't overdo and others that you can't underdo but he's starting to come along now."

Ali said he finished the workout at 216 pounds, five less than when he had started.

"How could I lose five pounds?" he asked while returning to the scales for a recheck.

"That's a lot of weight. You buy a pound of hamburger meat and hold it in your hand. That's a lot of meat."

Ali also said he had been eating a lot of honey and taking vitamins to get ready for the fight.

"I never east breakfast when I am in training but I take three or four teaspoons of black strap molasses and I take my honey to the restaurant to eat," he said. "People must think I am crazy coming in with a bottle of honey.

"People don't realize when you get a little age on you you have to plan things better," Ali said.

"I used to see Sugar Ray in his last days and when he would come in from training he would lay down and rest," Ali said. "I know what he was doing now. He was tired.

"Now, when I get back to the hotel, I rest," the former champion said. "Used to, I took everything as it came along. Now I've got a plan."

Both Ali and Ellis are to take their prefight physical examinations prior to today's workouts.

Iowa, New York Enact Partial Horse Embargo

By Associated Press

An embargo to prevent horses with sleeping sickness from entering Iowa was put into effect Tuesday with state veterinarians and federal officials instructed to check incoming stock.

"Right at the moment I don't think that it's time to panic, but we have to realize this is a serious threat to the horse population," said State Veterinarian E. A. Butler.

The ban is imposed on horses from Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, where thousands of the animals have died from Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE).

Carried by mosquitoes, the disease is a form of sleeping sickness that strikes horses, usually killing half its victims. No cases have been reported so far in Iowa.

Besides prohibiting entry of horses from the five states, permits certifying horses from Kansas and Colorado as free from VEE will be required before they are allowed into Iowa.

"We aren't going to have border checks and stop everyone coming across," Dr. Butler said. "There will be some horses that undoubtedly will be boot-legged into the state.

"You can't really control the border constantly to keep horses out. You spot-check and catch some now and then."

Butler said Tuesday that officials of neighboring states have been notified of the action taken by Iowa and persons manning ports of entry or weigh stations will pass the word to the Iowa Highway Patrol if they see horses being transported.

"You have to depend on the cooperation of the various states," Butler said noting that Nebraska also has imposed an embargo on horses from two states and is requiring permits for VEE free horses from several other states to the south.

Dr. Butler said persons bringing horses into Iowa illegally will be subject to a fine of several hundred dollars, and could have their horses quarantined and ordered sent home.

And the New York Racing Association also clamped an embargo on horses shipped from 11 states, Mexico, Central America and portions of South America. The ban affects the Saratoga, Belmont and Aqueduct tracks.

"If we make an error in this matter, we want it to be on the side of caution," Alfred G. Vanderbilt, chairman of the NYRA, said in referring to the rare sleeping disease which has killed thousands of horses in Texas and adjoining states.

The disease — known as Venezuelan Equine Encephalomeylitis — is believed to have originated in Mexico. The government has ordered vaccination in the affected states.

Among the horses affected is Ack Ack, winner of last week's Santa Anita Derby, who was expected to come east.

KU Sells Out Ticket Allotment For NU Clash

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The University of Kansas announced today it has sold all of its allotment of tickets for the Kansas-Nebraska football game at Lincoln Oct. 16.

"We would like to obtain more tickets for the game at Nebraska," said John Novotny, K.U. assistant athletic director, "but that's impossible since they (the Cornhuskers) are already sold out for the season for all their home games."

Novotny said tickets are available at Allen Field House here for all other Kansas football games, including the Kansas State and Missouri games at Lawrence, which are expected to be sellouts.

Rauch Quits As Top Man For Buffalo

Niagara Falls, N.Y. (AP) — John Rauch resigned unexpectedly Tuesday as head coach of the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League.

Rauch resigned after a meeting with Ralph C. Wilson, Jr., owner of the team, at the Bills' training camp here. Wilson said he met with Rauch to tell the coach he was about to issue statements defending two former Bills players who Rauch had criticized in a recent television program.

The players are Ron McDole and Paul Maguire.

"He told me if I did so, I would have to get myself a new head coach," Wilson said. "I regret John's decision as I respect his football knowledge and his willingness the last two years to try and build with young players."

A team spokesman said Harvey Johnson, Bills' player personnel director, was immediately named to succeed Rauch.

The spokesman also said Rauch had left the team's training camp.

Rauch was not immediately available for comment.

Rauch took over as coach of the Bills at the start of the 1969 season. He had formerly coached the Oakland Raiders.

Earnings Reports Lift Stock Prices

New York (AP) — Encouraging second-quarter earnings results helped the stock market Tuesday to make its first gain in six sessions. Trading was slow.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 5.91 points at 892.30. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by a modest margin.

Among the prime participants in the advance were Chrysler, up 1¼ at 28%, and American Motors, up ¼ at 7. Both automakers have reported dramatic earnings improvements in their latest quarter.

Ling-Temco-Vought, which has an 81% interest in Jones & Laughlin, was up at 16¼. J&L reported a quarterly profit against a loss a year earlier.

Analysts also attributed the market's good showing to strength in IBM, up 2½ at 299. Many brokers consider the issue a market pacesetter.

Another glamour stock with a good performance was Polaroid, up 3½ at 108¾.

Gains were scored by motors, rubber issues, farm implements, electronics, building materials, and drugs. Airlines were lower. All other groups were mixed.

Big Board volume rose to 12.54 million shares from 11.43 million shares Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.22 to 55.06. Of the 1,664 issues traded on the Big Board, 745 advanced, and 573 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 42 issues and lows by 35.

The American Stock Exchange index climbed .02 to 25.57.

The most-active Big Board issue was Ling-Temco-Vought with a volume of 200,700 shares.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.2 to 320.0. Industrials were up 2.5, rails were up .8, and utilities were unchanged. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index climbed .39 to 99.32.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board rose to 116 from a revised 89 Monday.

The largest block was 142,000 shares of Textron, which traded at 28⅜, off ⅜ from the previous session's close.

Of the 1,121 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 426 declined, and 410 advanced. Volume rose to 2.81 million shares from 2.51 million shares Monday.

The most-active Amex issue was Canadian Homestead, up 7-16 at 10 on a volume of 137,200 shares.

Corporate bonds were higher and governments were mixed.

Earnings Reports Lift Stock Prices

New York (AP) — Encouraging second-quarter earnings results helped the stock market Tuesday to make its first gain in six sessions. Trading was slow.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 5.91 points at 892.30. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by a modest margin.

Among the prime participants in the advance were Chrysler, up 1¼ at 28⅝, and American Motors, up ¼ at 7. Both automakers have reported dramatic earnings improvements in their latest quarter.

Ling-Temco-Vought, which has an 81% interest in Jones & Laughlin, was up at 16¼. J&L reported a quarterly profit against a loss a year earlier.

Analysts also attributed the market's good showing to strength in IBM, up 2½ at 299. Many brokers consider the issue a market pacesetter.

Another glamour stock with a good performance was Polaroid, up 3½ at 108¾.

Gains were scored by motors, rubber issues, farm implements, electronics, building materials, and drugs. Airlines were lower. All other groups were mixed.

Big Board volume rose to 12.54 million shares from 11.43 million shares Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.22 to 55.06. Of the 1,664 issues traded on the Big Board, 745 advanced, and 573 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 42 issues and lows by 35.

The American Stock Exchange index climbed .02 to 25.57.

The most-active Big Board issue was Ling-Temco-Vought with a volume of 200,700 shares.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.2 to 320.0. Industrials were up 2.5, rails were up .8, and utilities were unchanged. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index climbed .39 to 99.32.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board rose to 116 from a revised 89 Monday.

The largest block was 142,000 shares of Textron, which traded at 28⅜, off ⅜ from the previous session's close.

Of the 1,121 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 426 declined, and 410 advanced. Volume rose to 2.87 million shares from 2.51 million shares Monday.

The most-active Amex issue was Canadian Homestead, up 7-16 at 10 on a volume of 137,200 shares.

Corporate bonds were higher and governments were mixed.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Different Redemption Pattern Shown By No-Load Funds

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

First 5 Months

Experience during the vicissitudes of security prices in the first five months of 1971 discloses a point of difference between no-load mutual funds and those with a load, or sales premium.

The latter depend on the energy of salesmen, whereas the no-load funds are bought on the initiative of investors directly from sponsoring firms. Accordingly while redemptions exceeded sales of mutual funds for the first time in May, the non-load funds showed a different pattern. In May the fund industry reported that redemptions or cashing in of shares for money exceeded sales by $121,500,000, but among no-loads in May purchases exceeded redemptions by $8,300,000. Although the no-loads represent only 6% of mutual fund total assets, no-loads in the first five months accounted for 11% of the industry sales.

It should be kept in mind that the closed end investment companies, such as Lehman Corporation, Dominick Fund, Tricontinental, Madison Fund and Japan Fund, all listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are not subject to redemption. The closed-end funds are not continuously created, but are fixed in quantity and are available, like industrial, railroad and public utility shares, only when purchased from other investors. These funds bear no load, but are subject to the regular Stock Exchange commission. Sometimes they sell at a discount below asset value and sometimes at a premium. The discounts and premiums, as the case may be, are listed Mondays in the Wall Street Journal.

Structurally, the no-load funds and the load funds are the same except for this factor. There is no correlation between the success of the fund and whether or not it carries a load. Some of the load funds have succeeded in overcoming the load by successful investment, but the absence of a load means that 100% of the sales proceeds go into the investment pool.

Q.—An older salaried professional man has most of his savings and pension money in fixed dollars except for a substantial commitment in the mutual fund. He writes: "In view of the poor performance of this fund and the recent excess of mutual fund redemptions over purchases, I wonder whether to go into another mutual fund or into tax exempts.

A.—Your load fund is one of the oldest and is run by reputable people. However, the performance speaks for itself. In the last 12 months, according to the Arthur Lipper reports, your fund in performance has ranked 496th among some 521 funds. Usually this column does not recommend short term shifting of funds, but you have a large commitment, and might prudently diversify. I am mailing you a list of no-load and closed-end funds. You can view past performance in Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies" and current results in various statistical services on file in the libraries of banks and of investment brokers. Bear in mind that the same funds don't necessarily continuously maintain leadership positions.

Q.—A lady in Silver Spring, Md., asks for the names of tax free bonds.

A.—Such a list would require a manual. All of the states and their subdivisions, including municipalities, towns, counties and special authorities, issue such obligations. Your bank can put you in touch with dealers specializing in tax free bonds. You will find a partial list, with ratings, in Standard & Poor's Monthly "Bond Guide." Unless you are in the 35% tax bracket or above, you would do better in buying taxable issues.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Gordon Man, 21, Drowns In Lake

Pine Ridge, S.D. (AP) — Sidney Bird, 21, Gordon, Neb., drowned in a reservoir near here Monday.

Authorities said Bird, a member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe, was swimming with a group at East Lake when members of the swimming party said they saw him surface with a bloody nose and then disappear underwater.

Rescue attempts were unsuccessful and Bird's body was recovered by a skin diver about an hour after the accident.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How to Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
